COTTON CROP MOVEMENT UNDER WAY

Demonstrations at Farmers' Short Course

Here are Texas farmers and their wives getting the latest idea in farm activities while attending the annual Farmers' Short Course at Texas A. and M. college. In the picture above J. F. Rosborough, Extension Horticulturist, is shown giving a demonstration in grape-juice making on the A. and M. College campus. The demonstration included crushing, pressing, filtering, bottling, capping and pasteurizing. Below is shown J. L. Thomas, Extension Dairyman, demonstrating American cheese making. Milam Democrats Ask For Submission: Convention Is Tame Affair Here

A resolution asking for immediate submission of the prohibition question to the people of Texas by the next legislature, was passed without a dissenting vote in the county convention here Saturday. The wets controlled the convention. The dries made no protest.

T. S. Henderson, dry leader, offered a resolution asking the Democratic Executive Committee to provide rules and regulations for holding precinct conventions hereafter and to post the hour when same is to be held. The law provides that the committee may prescribe the terms of holding conventions.

Cameron's 52 votes in the convention were controlled by the wets.

The convention passed a resolution asking the the Commissioners Court to co-operate with the highway department to beautify the highways.

A resolution submitted by Stanton Dossett indorsed the Roosevelt administration.

The convention was called to order by Chairman J. B. White of the Executive Committee. After the temporary roll of the convention was made up the convention elected B. P. Matocha chairman and Mr. Dossett secretary.

Helps U. S. Can Meat

Miss Mildred Horton, Texas state home demonstration agent, who recently returned from Washington where she helped the Federal Emergency Relief Administration to adapt for use throughout the United States the plans developed by the Texas Extension Service and the Texas Relief Administration for emergency meat canning. It was Miss Horton herself who in 1918 canned the first whole beef ever to be canned for home use. This event occurred in Jasper county when Miss Horton was home demonstration agent there and has proven to be the fore-runner of thousands of cows going into millions of cans for use in relief work as well as on family farm and ranch dinner tables. (Texas News Photos.)

Two Polling Places Asked for Cameron

Two voting precincts for Cameron will be urged of the Commissioners Court in their meeting on August 16th.

The county convention Saturday was asked by Chairman J. B. White to endorse the movement. A committee composed of J. B. White, Jim Baskin and T. S. Henderson, will appear before the Court.

The law provides that the Court may establish the voting precinct at its meeting in August. One polling place is insufficient and another one is necessary. More than 1300 votes are polled in Cameron.

PATIENCE ASKED OF DROUTH CATTLEMAN

Patience on the part of stock men is asked in a letter received by Geo. Banzhaf, county agent, relative to shipment of distress cattle.

The government intends to buy all cattle in distress areas and the letter says that due to the congestion the movement has been temporarily halted. Every stock yard from Texas to Chicago is filled. The more distressed cattle will be moved first and even though prospects do not look well for this winter, cattlemen are asked to bear with the government.

Everything possible is being done by Mr. Banzhaf to expedite movement. The railroads are limited as to capacity on cattle shipments. There is every indication buying will be resumed in a few days.

HARRY ROGERS TRIAL SET SEPTEMBER 17TH

Harry Rogers, charged by indictment with the murder of Garnet Beardon in Milam County near Rogers in 1933, will be tried in the District Court in Milam County on September 17th. Several unsuccessful attempts have been made to try the case, but so far nothing has resulted.

Rogers was tried here in September, 1933, and a verdict of two years in the penitentiary was returned by the jury. The case was appealed and reversed.

Rogers is charged with the fatal shooting of Beardon near the "wire" bridge on Little River near the Bell-Milam county line, on May 26, 1933. A plea of self defense was offered.

Rogers at the time of the shooting and trial was 20 years of age.

B. P. Matocha Heads County Allred Club

An Allred for governor club was organized Tuesday night in Cameron for Milam County. B. P. Matocha, attorney, was elected president of the Club.

Plans were discussed for a speech by the candidate in Cameron at some time prior to the election on August 25th.

All communities in the county are asked to participate in the organization.

Brown Dossett, New Heir, Arrives In Home Here Friday

Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Dossett are being congratulated by their many friends over Texas on the arrival in their home of a fine son, born Friday night August 3, 1934. He has been named Brown Dossett. Mrs. Dossett and baby are doing well at the Cameron Hospital. With them is Mrs. A. J. Dossett of Waco, grandmother of the new heir who will remain until the last of the week. Mr. Dossett, young Democratic leader of Texas was making room this week for future possibilities in the party and contemplating the benefits of an assistant manager in the compress business some years hence.

Price Around 14c After Crop Shortage Report

World's Second Bale of Cotton

A Texan, A. C. Pradeau of Brownsville, grew Mexico's first bale of cotton of the 1934 season. Incidentally, it was the world's second bale of cotton for the year. Mr. Pradeau is shown here with the first bale, ginned at Matamoros, across from Brownsville. He sent it to Francisco Elias, Mexican minister of agriculture.

With 541 bales of new cotton reported at the wharves of the Cameron Compress Company and an equal number or more being held at the gins, the movement of the 1934 crop is under way.

Estimates place the Milam County crop at from 30,000 to 32,000 bales. Some believe this estimate to be high with the prospect of not more than 25,000 bales. In 1925 the county produced about 10,000 bales. In 1920 the crop was more than 80,000 bales.

Middling cotton was 13.65 this morning with strict middling at 14c. Continued dry weather has made early maturing cotton for the county and the crop will be harvested within about 30 days. Little labor benefits are looked for in the harvest season.

Acreage reduction through co-operation with the government coupled with drouth are big factors in the shortage. Whether Milam County would reach its allotment depends on bottom lands and this acreage is in the hands of large planters in the main.

Style Show Models

Here are two of the evening gowns being shown on living models at the three Tuesday night exhibits of the Southwestern Fall Style Show. The show dates are August 7, 14 and 21. The place is Fair Park, Dallas. (Texas News Photos.)

Roy Baskin Named To County Board

Roy Baskin has been appointed a member of the Board of Education for Milam County. He was defeated for this place by L. Van Perkins in the spring. The former commander carried the support of the Legion interested at that time in the public schools of the county by national declaration.

The appointment of Mr. Baskin was made Wednesday at a meeting of the Board.

Mrs. E. F. Hunter of San Antonio is here visiting her sister, Mrs. India Stidham. She formerly lived in Cameron and is accompanied here by her son, Fennimore Hunter. Her many friends will be glad to know she has returned here for a visit. As a club woman in San Antonio she has been active in the affairs of that city.

GRADY LITTLE HEADS AMERICAN LEGION HERE

At a meeting of the American Legion Edwin Harry Post No. 9, which met at the Little Ice Station, the following officers were elected: Grady Little, commander; W. B. Skelton, vice commander; E. Hesse, reelected second vice-commander; John Hays, adjutant; A. E. Matula, reelected finance officer; Rev. N. D. Timmerman, reelected chaplain; W. R. Hoover, historian; Joe Richter, reelected sergeant at arms.

The following were elected as delegates to the state convention to be held at Mineral Wells, August 26-28: L. Van Perkins, Grady Little, Jim Baskin, Ed Hesse, John Sapp, Joe Richter, John Hays, Grady Stidham, and W. R. Hoover.

The executive committee is composed of A. G. Kunz, L. F. Gohmert, Guy T. Newton, P. W. Davis and Lee Clorp.

Following the business session about 75 of the men enjoyed an iced watermelon cutting.

Milam Theatre To Begin 6 Day Week Opening August 20

Beginning August 20th the Milam Theatre will begin a six day a week show program. No program will be given on Sunday.

The show has been renovated, repainted and made more attractive for the opening of the fall season beginning Monday, August 20.

Stanley H. Swift, owner, has booked some good picture programs for the Milam during the coming season when it begins its full six day showings.

COTTON OPTIONS MAY BE SOLD AT PRESENT

Cotton farmers who took options on future price of cotton instead of cash in 1933 acreage reduction plan may now tender their contracts, according to Geo. Banzhaf, county agent, who received a telegram from the government.

The cotton poll contains cotton taken by option in 1933. It was the plan to require the farmers to hold that cotton until it reached 15c per pound. The government now offers farmers the privilege of selling at the present market price, if they desire to sell.

BARROW AND HAMILTON ROB PT. SULLIVAN OFFICE

Clyde Barrow and Ray Hamilton along in 1932 when they teamed up for crime in a big way are known to have visited Milam county and are officially charged with the robbery of the Port Sullivan postoffice where 400 money orders were stolen.

Barrow has since been rubbed out along with his moll, Bonnie Parker. Hamilton in a recent sensational escape left the death house at Huntsville where he awaited execution.

Robbery of the postoffice at Port Sullivan comes to light in a story of Ray Hamilton in the September number of Startling Detective as told by Denver Seale, special investigator for the District Attorney of Dallas county, who relates the story to Clarke Newlon.

A brisk experience filled with thrills followed this robbery. It was known at the office of Sheriff Leonard Blaylock that Barrow and Hamilton had robbed the Port Sullivan postoffice.

The bandit pair had stolen an automobile in San Antonio. Its license number was immediately broadcast. The pair on their way up stopped at Franklin and stole a new coupe, substituting the San Antonio license plate.

Postmaster Peel at Port Sullivan, who is the father of Homer Peel, national league star, was asked to watch for this license number. A few days later Ray Robinson, office deputy, was sitting at his desk. The telephone rang. It was Mr. Peel. He had just seen the car go by at high rate of speed.

Deputy Robinson summoned Will Vaughn, deputy, and they sped to Silver City and at the Link & Highway store blocked the highway. In a few minutes the car came around the bend. The officers advanced and leveled down. The driver of the car threw up his hands and rolled up peacefully to where the officers stood. Neither Barrow nor Hamilton were in the car but the much surprised owner of the coupe who had regained his car from Dallas officers where it had been abandoned. He had neglected to remove the license plates of the San Antonio machine. The incident passed off. (See BARROW on page 4)

Knights Columbus Install Officers Here August 2nd

At their last meeting on August 2, the officers of the Knights of Columbus, Cameron Council No. 2338 were installed by their District Deputy Elmore H. Borchers. Mr. Borchers, who is head of the Department of Public Speaking at St. Edwards University in Austin, was elected District Deputy at the last State Convention of the Knights of Columbus. The newly elected officers are as follows: Grand Knight, J. C. Andres; Deputy Grand Knight, F. A. Michalka; Financial Secretary, A. G. Kunz; Recorder, J. A. Lindie; Lecturer, Rudolph Richter; Warden, F. J. Hanel; Advocate, Anton Morawi; Chancellor, Dr. A. S. Valenta; Treasurer, Paul Michalka; Trustee, Herman Roedecker; Guards, Emil Hollas and Hugo Boedecker. After the meeting refreshments were served by the Lecturer.

The next regular meeting will be held Thursday August 16. All members are requested to be present.

AUGUST 11 LAST DAY TO SIGN EXEMPTIONS

Saturday August 11 has been set as the final date for signing application blanks for tax-exemption certificates under the Bankhead Act, according to word received from County Agent Geo. Banzhaf.

All cotton producers who failed to sign a 1934-35 Cotton Acreage Reduction Contract earlier in the year must call at the county agent's office in the Postoffice on or before that date, if they have not already done so.

All signers of contracts will be notified as to what date they are to sign by the community committee-men.

All application blanks for contract signers, which will be signed in the community, will be placed in the hands of the inspectors and must be signed by Saturday night also.

Mr. Banzhaf stresses the importance of signing application blanks, stating that no allotments will be made unless application forms are executed by producers.

MILANO

The weather continues dry and hot with no rain to amount to anything since May. Most people that depend on cisterns for water are hauling water now.

The members of the Milano Cemetery Association met in the home of Mrs. F. W. Iiams Monday afternoon with 12 present and quite an enjoyable evening was spent.

Mrs. John Jackson of Houston was a guest in the home of Mrs. N. Brennan a few days the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Monta Coward and baby and Grandma Hairston of Marlow and Mrs. Nora Cannon of Beaumont were guests in the Lee Anthis home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Brennan of Taylor were week end guests of their mother here, Mrs. N. Brennan.

Mrs. Arrington and girls of Thrall spent Sunday in the home of her mother here, Mrs. J. B. Newton. She was accompanied home by her mother who will visit for several days in her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hughes motored to Temple Saturday to see Mr. Hughes' mother that had the misfortune to get her arm broken and other injuries due to a fall. She is reported resting very well.

Mrs. Leah Webb of Gause attended the social in the F. W. Iiams

LIFE'S GREATEST PASSWORD

By Chas. J. Brown
Sharp, Texas

Some great words in life are spoken. But the greatest is not heard. For our hearts can only feel it; Lips cannot express the word.

If you meet men who have envy That your words cannot tear 'part, Greet them with a smile so pleasant Then they'll feel it with their hearts.

We know that love is grateful— Where it is we want to be, But our action shows it's feeling And it's smiles we'll always see.

When you're in your gloomiest moment And your friends all turn you down, Think of life's eternal password— Wear a smile and not a frown.

home Monday.

Mrs. Ed Hairston has returned home from Mart where she had been visiting a sister for the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Haddox of Bryant were Milano visitors Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. U. Mitchell of Cameron were visiting in the H. K. Haddox home the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa McGregor and son, Clifford, have returned home from west Texas where they went for a vacation of several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. McMellon of Houston spent last week end in the home of their daughter here Mrs. Charlie Brannon.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Campbell left Sunday for their home at Cerice. Mr. Campbell teaches school there another year.

Mexican Baptist In Revival Here

Rev. C. Griscioti of McAllen is here for a revival campaign with the Mexican Baptist church of which Rev. Moises Robledo is pastor. The evangelist is an Italian and spent some time in China and Mexico as a missionary. He became a Baptist and has since preached as a minister of that faith.

The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

Mrs. Jordon Avnsby of Dallas is here on a visit with Mrs. Dallis Young and family.

FEED AND CROP LOAN REGULATIONS GIVEN

The following regulations regarding the Emergency Feed and Seed Loan have been sent out of the Emergency Crop Loan Office, Dallas, Texas, according to H. N. Bell Jr., field supervisor.

The new regulations regarding the Emergency Feed and Seed Loan provide that $1.00 per acre be allowed for the planting of forage crops up to August 15, 1934. After that date this allowance will be withdrawn.

The feed loan applications are made on a monthly basis, and not less than $25.00 can be obtained on the first application. However, the supplemental application may be less than that amount according to the need of the borrower.

The rate of interest is 5 1-2 per cent, the note being payable on or before November 1, 1935.

Things you may not know ~ about your telephone

In 1876 Alexander Graham Bell finally perfected his telephone. The first voice heard over wires was Bell's when he called through his instrument to his assistant, Thomas Watson, "Mr. Watson, come here, I want you."

Almost unnoticed at the great Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia, Bell realized his problem was but half solved. He had his telephone, but how was he to convince people they could send their voice over thin metal wires?

Bell wisely left that problem to his father-in-law, Gardiner G. Hubbard. Hubbard and a group of friends hit upon the idea of licensing other companies to use Bell's patents. In exchange, they accepted stock in these companies.

FOR YOU . . . Good Service at Fair Cost

THUS was laid the groundwork for the American Telephone and Telegraph Company of today . . . the parent organization of the 24 regional operating companies, of which the Southwestern Company is one.

Over more than 50 years of operation, the fundamental policy of the Bell group, as guided by this parent organization, has been to give good telephone service at a fair cost.

This policy has been adopted because we feel that, from your standpoint as much as from our own, it is sound and workable. It is based upon the belief that in an undertaking planned like the telephone service for the long pull, what is best for the telephone user becomes in the end the policy that will bring us the sounder, more enduring success.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company

We like to have people know how the telephone works. If you would be interested in a peek behind the scenes, so to speak—in finding out how your telephone calls are handled—just drop by the telephone office. We shall be glad to show you through.

To The People Of Commissioner Precinct 3

I am deeply grateful to the people of Commissioner Precinct No. 3 for their splendid vote on July 28 which enabled me to lead the ticket for re-election. In the run off primary on August 25 I earnestly solicit your vote and influence. To those who did not see fit to vote for me I hold no ill will and I invite them to give me their support on August 25th.

My reelection to the place of Commissioner for Precinct No. 3 will be greatly appreciated and I would consider it my sacred duty to continue to render the people the high character of service I have rendered them in the past. My experience and fitness for this office, I believe, makes my selection an advantage to the people. I ask my friends to lend their support and anything they may do in my behalf will be greatly appreciated.

BARROW

with laughter and the Cameron officers never had occasion to contact the desperadoes.

On June 24, 1932, two months after Hamilton and Barrow teamed up, they robbed the postoffice at Port Sullivan and took 400 money orders. Inspector R. R. Rang, Corsicana, used photographs to identify Ray and Clyde as the men who disposed of 60 of the blanks.

Deputy Ray Robinson says that Clyde and Bonnie did not spend the night in Cameron as reported, shortly before their death in the woods in Louisiana when Captain Frank Hamer and associates ambushed them. Mr. Robinson says that Bonnie and Clyde were in Louisiana for two weeks and that they traveled from New Orleans up trying to get to their hideaway, and all the while were entering the trap laid by Hamer and other officers.

Whitey Walker, slain at the walls when Hamilton and Blackie Thompson escaped, was charged with robbery of the Buckholts State Bank. He was buried at Rogers.

CATTLE SHIPMENTS
IN COUNTY STOPPED

Cattle shipments from Milam county under federal relief measures were halted in telegraphic advices to Administrator Clark Wednesday.

Concentration points were congested to such an extent that no more cattle can be shipped at this time. The agencies also have run out of application blanks. It was expected that within a few days the movement would be resumed.

The average price, it was said, would be around $15 and it was also said at the office of the administrator that if the movement of cattle isn't interrupted that around 25,000 head might be shipped from this county. Around 4000 head have already been sent to processing plants and slain locally.

It is estimated that around 35,000 head of cattle were in the county at the time relief shipments began.

Many hundreds of small cattle owners are yet to be reached by the government aid policy. No blanks are available. The offices are doing all possible to reach the farms and ranches for inspection.

Black-Draught Brings Refreshing Relief of Constipation Troubles

Constipation produces many disagreeable sensations, several of which are mentioned by Mr. T. E. Smith, of Boonville, Ind., who writes: "I have used Theodor's Black-Draught many years when needed for biliousness and other minor ills when a laxative was needed. I have a tight feeling in my chest when I get bilious. I get dizzy and feel very tired, just don't feel like doing my work. After taking Black-Draught, I feel much better. This is why I continue to use it when needed." . . . Theodor's Black-Draught is a good, purely vegetable laxative, obtainable for 25¢ a package.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

By L. J. Bowling
Gause, Texas

What do you think of things as they are?
Do you suppose we can get very far
By destroying cotton, corn or wheat
While thousands of people have little to eat?

We never have had more than we need.
The Lord gave us land, good rains and the seed—
We planted, then harvested what we grew;
But after we'd gathered it what did we do?

We selfishly hoarded what ever we had,
Awaiting the price that would make our hearts glad;
While brother and sister went hungry to bed.
This is the life that a great many led.

Then the Lord, who knows what men really need,
Lessened the showers, the harvest and seed—
Now, with more knowledge of what He may do,
We had better look out or He may get you.

MRS. BELLE MCKINNEY
IS BURIED IN WACO

Mrs. Belle McKinney, 78, died at her home in Waco Tuesday, August 2, 1934. Funeral services were held at Seventh and James Street Baptist church with Rev. W. W. Melton and Rev. J. M. Dawson conducting the services. Interment was made in Oak Wood Cemetery.

Mrs. McKinney was a native of Texas, born at Gonzales of early pioneer parents. She had made her home in Cameron for more than 20 years, moving to Waco some 25 years ago.

Mrs. McKinney had made many loyal friends in Cameron who were delighted to welcome her return visits with her daughter, Mrs. James W. Coleman.

Her husband preceded her many years. She is survived by five daughters, Mrs. James W. Coleman, Cameron; Mrs. Jeff Davis, Center; Mrs. J. B. McKinney, Waco; Mrs. Paul Medsker, Shawnee, Oklahoma; Mrs. J. J. Gibson, Desdemona; ten grandchildren and two great grand children.

J. T. SISSOM BURIED
LITTLE RIVER CEMETERY

J. T. Sissom, 78, died at this home August 6th at 10 p. m. Funeral was held at 3 o'clock at the Little River Baptist Church, with interment in Little River cemetery. The Leland Green Funeral home directed arrangements.

Mr. Sissom was born June 16th, 1858 in Cameron County, Tennessee and had spent most of his life in Texas. He had been in poor health for some time, but died suddenly Tuesday. He is survived by his wife and several children.

The election was held at the 25th Farmers Short Course. They are shown above. (Texas News Photos.)

Coming Marriage of Miss Grace Mangum to
Frank R. Kittridge September 2, Announced

Miss Winnie Henderson was hostess at a morning coffee Saturday. Pretty summer flowers lent floral charm to the rooms. Mrs. Ernest Beard of Hillsboro, and Mrs. Geo. Graves, seated at a decorated table poured coffee. Miss Katherine Henderson of Austin, Mrs. John Henderson, Mrs. Cecil Culpepper and Mrs. Gaston Barmore assisted in serving.

Following the dainty coffee service, a Jig-saw puzzle was worked by guests, when completed read: "Grace Mangum and Frank H. Kittridge, September the 2nd," which revealed the date of the wedding of two popular young people.

Miss Mangum is a native of Cameron where she is a popular member of a social set and the bridegroom lives in Oklahoma City. He spent some years here. He is a young man of splendid business qualities and holds a position with a large oil company as geologist.

Good wishes were extended to the bride-to-be. The only regret was that Miss Grace will leave Cameron to make her home in Oklahoma City. The wedding will be a quiet home ceremony.

Local Women Enroll
For Special Classes
At Short Course

To insure learning the work thoroughly, several Milam County women were registered for special classes during the week's Short Course, among these were: Miss Kate Schwarting, for hooked rug and mat work; fabric glove making by Mrs. John Timmerman; dining indoors and out by Mrs. Will Green. Mrs. P. V. Ryan, Mrs. Emzie Tucker; tuffed bed spreads by Mrs. Joe Meier; rose propagation by Mrs. Floyd Horton. It will be work of these women to give these programs to the various other clubs of the county.

Mrs. Jordon Avnsby of Dallas is here on a visit with Mrs. Dallis Young and family.

Miss Bernice McClaren, staff writer and correspondent for Texas newspapers, has returned to the city from a vacation trip spent in Dallas.

Dog Loses Puppies; Adopts Kittens

"Gypsy," a little dog of Prairie Lea, Texas, lost a litter of puppies, but immediately became a real mother to two orphan kittens. She licks them in true mother cat style while they purr contentedly. The kittens were found and given to the dog by twin boys, Clyde and Carol Fleming. (Texas News Photos.)

Independence Will Have Home Coming
Day On August 12

Independence, Texas—Sunday, August 12 has been designated as Homecoming Day at this place and is the eleventh annual event that brings together many old friends. A general invitation is extended by the arrangement committee, not only to all ex-residents of Independence and Washington county and all ex-students of Baylor University and Baylor Female College who attended school here, but to their friends and all Texans who would like to visit this historic old shrine and share with their fellow citizens a day of hallowed memories, rich and sacred in traditions of the past.

Hon. Robert L. Cole, of Houston will be the guest speaker this year. The usual sumptuous basket dinner will be served at the noon hour. There will be plenty of ice water and shade.

Bring your basket and join in the festivities of this yearly educational and recreational event. The CWA has made possible the greatly improved condition of the Independence-Brenham highway.

Independence is about thirty-minutes drive from historic Old Washington on the Brazos.

Mrs. Ann Posey has returned from a trip to Mexico. While away she visited a number of interesting places in Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hearrell of Gladewater are the proud parents of a fine young daughter who arrived Monday morning August 6th. The baby weighed 7 1-2 pounds. Mother and babe are doing nicely. Mr. Hearrell is the son of Mrs. Lola Hearrell of Cameron and both are native Cameron people, and many friends rejoice with parents.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Coleman and son, Jimmie Jr., of Cameron, Mrs. W. T. Faulkner of Whitney, Mrs. Earl Evers of Curoo attended the funeral of their grandmother, Mrs. Bell McKinney in Waco Saturday morning.

Miss Mozelle Bigbee who spent two months in Houston with her brother, Edwin Bigbee and family, arrived Tuesday afternoon. She was accompanied by Billie Bigbee who will spend some time here.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO TEXAS CONSTITUTION

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 13

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 3 of Article VIII of the Constitution of the State of Texas be so amended as to hereafter read as follows:

"Section 3. Taxes shall be levied and collected by general laws and for public purposes only; and the total amount of revenue which the State shall be authorized to collect during such biennium from taxes, licenses, permits and fees, (except fees paid by students to state educational institutions, and except rentals, bonuses and royalties obtained from public lands and other public property) shall not exceed a sum reasonably estimated to equal the product obtained by multiplying the number of the inhabitants of this State by the sum of Twenty-two and 50-100 ($22.50) Dollars; provided, however, the total amount of such revenue which may be so collected, shall be reduced by the amount of any surplus funds or unexpended appropriations remaining at the close of the preceding biennium. The expenditures of the State government of funds derived from the sources above referred to shall never exceed during any biennium, a sum equal to the product obtained by multiplying the number of inhabitants of this State by the sum of Twenty-two and 50-100 ($22.50) Dollars, provided, however, that the population of the State (in determining the amount of revenue which may be collected from taxes, licenses, permits and fee or expended from the revenue thus obtained) shall be determined by the then last preceding Federal census, to which population shall be added or deducted, as the case may be, for each year that has elapsed since the last preceding census, the average yearly increase or decrease of the population as shown by said Federal census which immediately preceded said last Federal census. Provided, further, that in case of war, riots, or insurrection, or a statewide calamity caused by earthquake, fire, flood or an epidemic which seriously threatens the health of the citizens of this State, the Legislature shall have authority, by a two-thirds vote of both Houses, to suspend for a definite period this constitutional limitation as to the amount of money which may be collected and expended during the biennium."

Section 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to the electors of this State qualified to vote on constitutional amendments at an election to be held throughout the State on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, A. D., 1934, at which election each ballot shall have printed the words:

"For the Amendment of Section 3 of Article VIII of the State Constitution providing for the levying and collection of taxes and fixing the maximum amount thereof which can be collected and expended each biennium."

"Against the Amendment of Section 3 of Article VIII of the State Constitution providing for the levying and collection of taxes and fixing the maximum amount thereof which can be collected and expended each biennium."

Each voter shall scratch out with pen or pencil the clause which he desires to vote against, so as to indicate whether he is voting for or against said proposed amendment.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 21

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 1 of Article 9 of the Constitution of the State of Texas, be amended so as to hereafter read as follows:

"Section 1. The Legislature shall have the power to create counties for the convenience of the people subject to the following provisions:

First. In the territory of the State exterior to all counties now existing, no new counties shall be created with a less area than nine hundred square miles, in a square form, unless pre-existing boundary lines. Should the state lines render this impracticable in border counties, the area may be less. The territory referred to may, at any time, in whole or in part, be divided into counties in advance of population and attached, for judicial and land surveying purposes, to the most convenient organized county or counties.

Second. Within the territory of any county or counties now existing, the Legislature may, by a two-thirds vote of both Houses, create new counties, combine existing counties and parts of counties and abolish existing counties and change county boundaries at will, provided that no new county shall be created with an area of less than nine hundred square miles nor shall any existing county be reduced in area so as to contain less than nine hundred square miles, unless such new county or such remaining county, and both shall have a population of not less than fifty thousand according to the last United States census prior to the date of the creation or change of such county. When any part of a county is stricken off and attached to, or created into another county, the part stricken off shall be held for and obliged to pay its proportion of all liabilities then existing, of the county from which it was taken, in such manner as may be prescribed by law.

Third. No part of any existing county shall be detached from it and attached to another existing county until the proposition for such change shall have been submitted in such a manner as may be provided by law, to a vote of the electors of both counties and shall have received a majority of those voting on the question voting in each.

Section 2. The foregoing amendment to the Constitution shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held throughout the State on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1934. At this election all voters favoring said proposed amendment shall write or have printed in that ballot the words:

"For the amendment to Section 1 of Article 9 of the Constitution of Texas, providing that the Legislature may by a two-thirds vote of both Houses create new counties and change the boundaries of existing counties."

Those voters opposing said proposed amendment shall write, or have printed on their ballot the words:

"Against the amendment to Section 1 of Article 9 of the Constitution of Texas, providing that the Legislature may by a two-thirds vote of both Houses create new counties and change the boundaries of existing counties."

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 16

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 1 of Article 8 of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as to hereafter read as follows:

Section 1. TAXATION TO BE EQUAL AND UNIFORM AS TO REAL ESTATE AND TO BE EQUAL AND UNIFORM AS TO ALL REASONABLE CLASSIFICATIONS OF PROPERTY; AND OCCUPATION AND INCOME TAXES; EXEMPTIONS; LIMITATIONS UPON COUNTIES, CITIES, ETC.

"Taxation of real property shall be equal and uniform. All property in this State, whether owned by natural persons or corporations, other than municipal, shall be taxed in proportion to its value, which shall be ascertained as may be provided by law. The Legislature may by general laws make reasonable classifications of all property other than real property for the purpose of taxation, and may impose different rates thereon; provided that the taxation of all property in any class shall be equal and uniform. The Legislature may impose a poll tax. It may also impose occupation taxes, both upon natural persons and upon corporations, other than municipal, doing business in the state. It may also tax incomes of both natural persons and corporations other than municipal, except that persons engaged in mechanical and agricultural pursuits shall never be required to pay an occupation tax; provided that Two Hundred Fifty ($250.00) Dollars worth of household and kitchen furniture, belonging to each family in the State, shall be exempt from taxation, and provided further that the occupation tax levied by any county, city or town for any year on persons or corporations pursuing any profession or business, shall not exceed one-half of the tax levied by the State for the same period of such profession or business."

Section 2. The foregoing amendment to the Constitution of Texas shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held throughout the State on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1934. At this election, all voters favoring said amendment shall write, or have printed, on their ballots the words:

"For the Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas providing that taxation of real property shall be equal and uniform; and that all property in this State, other than that owned by municipal corporations, shall be taxed in proportion to its value as ascertained as may be provided by law; and providing that the Legislature may make reasonable classifications of all property, other than real property, for the purpose of taxation, and that the taxation of all property in any class shall be equal and uniform; and providing further that the Legislature may impose poll tax and income tax and exempting from occupation tax and persons engaged in mechanical and agricultural pursuits; Two Hundred Fifty ($250.00) Dollars worth of household and kitchen furniture belonging to each family; and providing that the occupation tax levied by any county, city or town shall not exceed one-half that levied by the State for the same period."

Those voters opposing said proposed amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words:

"Against the Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas providing that taxation of real property shall be equal and uniform; and that all property in this State, other than that owned by municipal corporations, shall be taxed in proportion to its value as ascertained as may be provided by law; and providing that the Legislature may make reasonable classifications of all property, other than real property, for the purpose of taxation, and that the taxation of all property in any class shall be equal and uniform; and providing further that the Legislature may impose poll tax and income tax and exempting from occupation tax and persons engaged in mechanical and agricultural pursuits; Two Hundred Fifty ($250.00) Dollars worth of household and kitchen furniture belonging to each family; and providing that the occupation tax levied by any county, city or town shall not exceed one-half that levied by the State for the same period."

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 2

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That the Constitution of the State of Texas, Article 16, be amended by adding thereto another Section, Section 61, which shall read as follows:

"Section 61. All district officers in the State and all county officers in counties having a population of Twenty Thousand (20,000), or more, according to the last preceding Federal census, shall hereafter be compensated on a salary basis. In all counties of this State the Commissioners' Court shall be authorized to determine whether precinct officers shall be compensated on a fee basis or on a salary basis; and in counties having a population of less than twenty thousand (20,000) according to the last preceding Federal census, the Commissioners' Court shall also have the authority to determine whether county officers shall be compensated on a fee basis or salary basis. All fees earned by district, county or precinct officers shall be paid into the County Treasury where earned, for the account of the proper fund, provided that fees incurred by the State, County and any municipality, or in case where pauper's oath is filed, shall be paid to the County Treasury, when collected, and provided that where any officer is compensated wholly on a fee basis, such fees may be retained by such officer, or paid into the Treasury of the county as the Commissioners' Court may direct. All notaries Public, County Surveyors and Public Weighers shall continue to be compensated on a fee basis."

Section 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified voters of this State and the next general election to be held on Tuesday, after the first Monday in November, A. D., 1934, at which time all voters favoring said proposed amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words:

"For the Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas adding Section 61 to Article XVI, abolishing the fee system of compensating all district officers and all county officers in counties having a population of twenty thousand (20,000) or more; and authorizing the Commissioners' Court to determine whether County officers in counties containing less than twenty thousand (20,000) population shall be compensated on a fee basis or a salary basis; and authorizing the Commissioners' Court in all counties of this State to determine whether precinct officers shall be compensated on a fee or salary basis."

"Against the Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas adding Section 61 to Article XVI, abolishing the fee system of compensating all district officers and all county officers in counties having a population of twenty thousand (20,000) or more; and authorizing the Commissioners' Court to determine whether County officers in counties containing less than twenty thousand (20,000) population shall be compensated on a fee basis or a salary basis; and authorizing the Commissioners' Court in all counties of this State to determine whether precinct officers shall be compensated on a fee or salary basis."

Each voter shall scratch out with pen or pencil the clause which he desires to vote against so as to indicate whether he is voting for or against said proposed amendment.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 41

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 5, of Article XI, of the Constitution of Texas, be amended so as to hereafter read as follows:

"Section 5. Cities having more than five thousand (5000) inhabitants may, by a majority vote of the qualified voters of said city, at an election held for that purpose, adopt or amend their charters, subject to such limitations as may be prescribed by the Legislature, and providing that no charter or any ordinance passed under said charter shall contain any provision inconsistent with the Constitution of the State, or of the general laws enacted by the Legislature of this State; said cities may levy, assess and collect such taxes as may be authorized by law or their charters; but no tax for any purpose shall ever be lawful for any one year, which shall exceed two and one half per cent (2½%) of the taxable property of such city, and no debt shall ever be created by any city, unless at the same time provision be made to assess and collect annually a sufficient sum to pay the interest thereon and creating a sinking fund for at least two per cent (2%) thereon; provided further, that no city charter shall be altered, amended or repealed oftener than every twelve (12) months."

Section 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the State at the next general election, to be held the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1934, at which election all voters favoring such proposed amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words: "For the Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas permitting any Home Rule City to alter, amend or repeal its charter every twelve (12) months;" and those opposed shall write or have printed on their ballots the words: "Against the Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas permitting any Home Rule City to alter, amend or repeal its charter every twelve (12) months."

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 42

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 30, Article 16 of the Constitution of Texas be amended so as to hereafter read as follows:

"Section 30. The duration of all offices not fixed by this Constitution shall never exceed two (2) years, except that the elected officials of a city that has adopted and amended its charter as provided in Section 5, Article XI of the Constitution of Texas may, by amendment to such city's charter, hold office not to exceed four (4) years; provided, that when a Railroad Commission is created by law it shall be composed of three (3) Commissioners who shall be elected by the people at a general election for State officers, and their term of office shall be six (6) years; provided, Railroad Commissioners first elected after this Amendment goes into effect shall hold office as follows: One shall serve two (2) years, and one four (4) years and one six (6) years; their terms to be decided by lot immediately after they shall have qualified. And one Railroad Commissioner shall be elected every two (2) years thereafter. In case of vacancy in said office the Governor of the State shall fill said vacancy by appointment until the next General Election."

Section 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the State on the next General Election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1934, at which election all voters favoring such proposed amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words: "For the Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas permitting Home Rule Cities to so amend their charters that the elected officials of such cities may hold office not to exceed four (4) years," and those opposed shall write or have printed on their ballots the words: "Against the Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas permitting Home Rule Cities to so amend their charters that the elected officials of such cities may hold office not to exceed four (4) years."

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 14

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That there be added to Article IX of the Constitution of the State of Texas a new section to be numbered Section 2-A and to have five (5) lettered subdivisions; and which section shall read as follows:

"Section 2-A.
(a) General management and control of the affairs of the County shall hereafter be vested in the Commissioners' Court, provided that the exercise of powers not specifically granted to the Commissioners'

Court by the Constitution and amendments thereto, the Court shall be subject to the authority of the Legislature of the State, and the Court shall also be subject to all general laws of the State now in force not in conflict with the provisions of this amendment until such laws are modified or repealed.

"(b) All duties heretofore performed by the Clerk of the District Court and the County Clerk shall hereafter be performed by an officer to be known as Record Clerk; all duties heretofore performed by the County Tax Assessor and the County Tax Collector shall hereafter be performed by one officer known as Tax Clerk; and in the counties where the sheriff performs the duties of the Tax Collector he may hereafter perform the duties of the Tax Clerk. The Record Clerk and the Tax Clerk shall be elected to hold office for a term of two (2) years and until their successors shall be elected and qualified. The Commissioners' Court shall have authority to combine the office of County Treasurer and the office of County Surveyor, or to combine either or both, of said offices with any county office. Within the maximum and minimum limits prescribed by the Legislature the Commissioners Court shall have authority to fix the compensation of all county and precinct officers except County Auditor, County Judge and County Commissioners. The Legislature shall fix the compensation of District Judges, District Attorneys, County Judges and the County Commissioners and may provide for a County Auditor and prescribe his duties and fix his compensation and the number and compensation of his assistants. The Commissioners Court shall fix the compensation of and determine the number of deputies, assistants and clerical personnel of all precinct officers and county officers except the county auditor.

"(c) City and county officers and employees man, in addition to their duties as such city and county officers or employees, be required to perform such other similar duties for cities, towns and districts within the county, or for the county, as may be naturally agreed upon and contracted for between the Commissioners Court of said county and the governing board, or boards, of such cities, towns and districts; and the cost of such service shall be provided for in said contracts and paid by such county, cities, towns or districts into the Treasury of the county or city, town or district, as provided for in said contract. All such contracts shall be approved by the Attorney General of this State and such contracts shall not cover a period longer than two (2) years.

"(d) The Legislature shall have authority, by general law, to provide for complete forms of county government and organizations different from that provided for in this Constitution to become effective in any county when submitted in such manner as may be prescribed by the Legislature to the qualified voters of such county in an election held for such purpose and approved by a majority of the qualified voters in said election. Provided, however, that no such law shall impair the right of the Commissioners Court to determine the compensation of county and precinct officers other than the County auditor, to fix the number of assistants, deputies, and clerical personnel which said officers may employ; nor shall such general law change the present constitutional limitations as to particular and total tax levies for any or all county purposes; nor shall such general law change the present constitutional limitations on counties to incur public debts.

"(e) In any and all cases where provisions of the Constitution of this State are in conflict with the provision of this Amendment (Section 2-A, Article IX) shall control; provided, however, should any county adopt a Home Rule Charter under authority of any provisions of the State Constitution or Amendment thereto, this Amendment shall not be applicable to such county."

Section 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to the electors of this State, qualified to vote on Constitutional Amendments, at an election to be held throughout the State on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November A. D. 1934, at which election each ballot shall have printed thereon the words:

"For the Amendment of Article IX of the State Constitution by adding Section 2-A thereto, giving the Commissioners Court general management and control of county affairs, and authorizing the Legislature to provide more economical forms of county government and different than as now provided by law."

"Against the Amendment of Article IX of the State Constitution by adding section 2-A thereto, giving the Commissioners Court general management and control of county affairs, and authorizing the Legislature to provide more economical forms of county government, and different than as now provided by law."

Three Killers Escape from Texas Penitentiary Death House

Hamilton Palmer Thompson Walker Frazier

Three men under sentence of death—Raymond Hamilton, Joe Palmer and Blackie Thompson—made their escape from the Texas State penitentiary death house at Huntsville Sunday afternoon, leaving three less fortunate prisoners behind them—Whitely Walker, Charlie Frazier and Roy Johnson wounded. This is the first successful break from the penitentiary death house. In the pictures above are shown five of the six men who figured in the break and the wall which they climbed by ladder. A guard, H. E. George, was slightly wounded by the killers as they went over the wall. The three convicts wounded or killed had life sentences. (Texas News Photos.)

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

(No. 137,072; Jamie L. Clark)

STATE OF TEXAS,
COUNTY OF MILAM

WHEREAS, on the 4th day of September, 1925, Jamie L. Clark, a single man of the County of Milam, Texas, executed a Deed of Trust conveying to Louis Breiling, Trustee, the real estate hereinafter described to secure the Union Central Life Insurance Company of Cincinnati, Ohio, in the payment of a debt therein described, said deed of trust being recorded in Vol. 57, page 32, of the Deed of Trust Records of Milam County, Texas.

AND, WHEREAS, the undersigned has been appointed substitute Trustee in the place of the said original Trustee, who has refused to act and has resigned.

AND, WHEREAS, default has occurred in the payment of the indebtedness secured by said Deed of Trust, on account of which default The Union Central Life Insurance Company, the holder of said indebtedness, which on the day of sale herein, will amount to $1,892.24 has declared the whole amount thereof due, and has requested me as substitute Trustee to sell said property to satisfy said indebtedness.

NOW, THEREFORE, Notice is hereby given that on Tuesday the 4th day of September, A. D. 1934, between the hours of ten o'clock A. M. and four o'clock P. M. I will sell said real estate at the door of the County Court House in the city of Cameron, County of Milam, State of Texas, to the highest bidder for cash. Said real estate is described as follows, lying and being situated in the county of Milam, state of Texas, bounded and described as follows:

FORTY (40) acres of land composed of 25 acres of land out of the A. Folkes League, and 15 acres of land out of the Daniel Robinson Headright League, described in two (2) tracts as follows, to-wit:

FIRST TRACT: 25 acres of land out of the A. Folkes League near San Gabriel, being lot No. Ten (10) of the H. F. Baird land allotted to Willie B. Moseley in partition of said Baird lands, as per deed of record in Book 125, Page 233 of Milam County Deed of Records, and more fully described as follows, to-wit:

BEGINNING at the Northeast corner of the Myrtle Locklin Lot No. Nine (9) for the Northeast corner of this, (which said point of beginning is S. 71 deg. W. 351 varas, S. 19 deg. E. 1970 varas, more or less, and S. 71 deg. W. 304 1-2 varas, more or less, from the Northeast corner of the A. Folkes League.)

THENCE S. 19 deg. E. 789 varas along the Locklin West line to its Southwest corner, for the Southeast corner of this, in center of San Gabriel and Lane Port roads.

THENCE S. 76 deg. W. 187 varas with said road to West line of said 169 acres of land to the Southwest corner of this.

An Appeal

Since I became a candidate for County Treasurer, in the recent primary, I appeal to the voters of Milam County for help.

I am crippled and haven't any means of support, neither can I do manual labor. My small shoe repair shop is not giving me sufficient income to support my five children and send them to school.

I would greatly appreciate your vote in the run-off election, August 25th, and if elected, I promise to serve the people of Milam County to the best of my ability.

"Pains Gone," Says Lady, After She Had Taken CARDUI

In describing how her health improved after she had taken Cardui, Mrs. Ralph R. Courtney, of Wytheville, Va., said: "I was run-down and suffered from pain in my side. I wanted to feel well and get rid of the pain in my side, so I sent for Cardui and began taking it. By the time I had taken three bottles of Cardui, I was feeling much better. The pains had gone. I am very glad to recommend Cardui to other young women." . . . Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician. 31 a bottle, at drug stores.

Stage-Coach Journeys Were Hazardous

By ALLIE MCKINLEY SCOTT

Hamilton, Texas.

(Copyright, 1934, by the Home Color Print Co.)

HANDS up," ordered the highwayman as a stage coach came to a sudden stop near where is now situated the town of Rowena, Runnels county, Texas.

This hold-up was on the night of October 15, 1887, quoting W. J. Ellis in "Frontier Times." On this date Mr. Ellis was driver of the stage-coach team from San Angelo to Ballinger. Continuing, Mr. Ellis says that the robber already had stopped the east-bound stage, taking $1,300.00 from its passengers, and that these passengers were made to wait until the west-bound stage, driven by Mr. Ellis, came along, whereupon the highwayman also robbed its passengers of $450.00.

After going through the mail the robber loped off, waving goodbye to passengers. United States marshals, who investigated the robbery, arrested a cowboy by the name of Jim Newsome because he had a $100.00 bill in his possession. One of the robbed passengers had a $100.00 bill, and because of this fact Newsome was given ninety-nine years in prison by a Waco court, although twelve witnesses swore during the trial that Newsome was attending a rodeo at the time of the hold-up and that this rodeo was held 45 miles from the scene of the double stage robbery.

Overlooked $8,000 in Mail Bag

April 5, 1888, Mr. Ellis' stage was again held up near the town of Miles, Runnels county. The robber took all the cash and valuables from fourteen passengers, but failed to find $8,000.00 in the mail bag. While the robber was ransacking the mail bags Mr. Ellis told him he believed he was the same man who held up his stage-coach a year before. The robber said, "You are right, I am the man." One of the passengers asked the bandit what he thought of fourteen men allowing a lone robber to hold them up. The bandit wrote on a card: "I believe you are all gentlemen, and would fight if you had a chance." He refused a drink of whisky, but helped himself to a box of cigars before riding away.

Mr. Ellis made an affidavit concerning this robbery, sending it to the United States Supreme Court, which granted Newsome a new trial. He was acquitted at the second trial.

Mr. Ellis came to Texas after Indians had ceased bothering stage-coaches, but highwaymen, or road-agents as they were called, took the place of robber Indians. He tells the following story:

Stage Held Up Seven Times

"In the winter of 1884 the stage-coach between San Angelo and Abilene was held up seven times in three months by two men named Potter and McDaniel who were later caught and convicted. These two were so bold, after robbing the east-bound stage (the west-bound stage from Abilene had been delayed on account of rains), they told the east-bound driver to tell the west-bound driver when the two met in passing to hurry up because they were cold and wanted to finish the last job quickly.

"There were two officers on the west-bound stage; one was a United States deputy marshal. The officers said they would not be robbed. In the fight that followed one United States marshal was slightly wounded and a passenger killed.

"Not long after pulling this robbery the same two bandits held up a stage-coach that was carrying show people. They took all the jewelry of the women passengers, and later McDaniel gave some of this jewelry to his sweetheart. When she told who gave her the jewelry, McDaniel and Potter were arrested, tried and sentenced to fifty years in the penitentiary. McDaniel was killed while trying to escape."

Lone Bandit Holds Up Preacher

A story is told in Frontier Times of a hold-up that happened back in the 70's. Bishop Gregg, of the Episcopal Church, was riding the stage from San Antonio to San Marcos. He was the only passenger. A lone bandit stopped the stage, and ordered the Bishop to hand over his watch and money. Bishop Gregg told the man that his watch was old and would be of no use to anyone except himself, and that he had just enough money to get him to his destination. "You see," he said, "a preacher is always a poor man." What church do you belong to?" asked the robber. "I am a bishop of the Episcopal Church," proudly replied the dignitary. "Hell," said the robber, "that is my church!" He thereupon apologized to the bishop, handed him his watch and money, mounted his horse and rode away.

One took his life in his own hands, quoting the San Antonio Express, when venturing away from centers of population in 1850. Indians roamed over most of Texas and committed many murders, although they were not so eager to kill as to steal horses and mules. Spanish ponies that the Indians rode were sorry and ill-kept compared to those belonging to stage-coach companies. During the winter of 1858-59 the Indians stole 225 mules and horses from the John Butterfield's stage company. Of course, most of these were taken from relay stations.

Indians Attack Mail Carriers and Passengers

In 1840 Joe Taylor had much trouble with Indians when he carried mail between old Washington (one of the first capitals of Texas) and Nashville, Texas. Mr. Taylor rode horseback, and was chased many times by redskins. Usually his horse could out-run the Indian ponies, but occasionally he had to drop the mail bag in the race for his life.

Once he was chased right into Nashville, where his wild yells for help brought the people out with guns in such force that the Indians retreated hastily. Big Foot Wallace, scout, ranger and frontiersman, was driving an open stage-hack between San Antonio and El Paso in 1849.

Arriving with his stage-hack at a water hole on Devil's river about noon, Big Foot decided to go into camp for about two hours in order to rest the team and let passengers partake of a cold snack and hot coffee. All but one of the six passengers were experienced frontiersmen and well armed with rifles and six-shooters.

Wallace, having seen Indian signs along the way, was on the alert and had drawn the hack up to the edge of a chapparal thicket, fronting a line of broken boulders.

Spreading a few blankets on the ground for use of passengers who might want to rest and relax, Big Foot picked up his rifle and walked to a little mound near the camp where he could have a clear view of the surrounding country.

Big Foot Warns Passengers

His keen eye soon noted a body of mounted men, at considerable distance, coming toward him. When the mounted men drew nearer, he recognized them as Indians, and immediately ran back to camp, aroused his passengers and told them to prepare to fight about two dozen savages.

These Indians evidently had been trailing the stage-hack for some time. Halting about half mile from the white men's camp, the Indians spread out, reconnoitered for a few minutes, came in closer and then charged, yelling demoniacally. But Wallace and his men were ready, and gave the savages such a storm of bullets that they fell back, leaving four dead warriors on the battlefield.

Retiring a safe distance and reforming their line, the Indians again charged with greater determination, some of them coming in so close that there were hand-to-hand fighting.

The Indians (Comanches) outnumbered the white men three to one, although they were only armed with bows, arrows and lances.

Beaten back a second time by the courage and good marksmanship of Big Foot and his fellow passengers, the savages retired beyond rifle range and held a long parley. So far the Comanches had lost half of their best warriors, but seemed unwilling to give up the fight.

Chief Harangues Warriors

The chief now rode out in front of and harangued his warriors, urging them to greater valor. After the harangue he turned his horse, shook his lance defiantly and charged at full speed. Every warrior followed him, and when within 200 yards of the white men's camp they parted, one-half going to the right and one-half to the left. This was a flank movement, though it failed, and the Indians were met with a deadly cross fire that completely routed and dispersed them. The few warriors left fled in disorder down the defiles of Devil's river.

In 1853, quoting Roy Hall, an authority on stage-coaching in Texas, the heavily loaded, but if not loaded were very rough. There were five mules to each coach, two at the wheel and three in front. The average schedule was six miles per hour. It usually took twenty-three days and nights to make the trip from San Antonio to San Diego. Passengers slept in seats, after they got used to the jolting.

This stage route was called the "Overland Trail," or "The Western Texas Stage Company." Passengers from the East could make connection with it by taking a steamer at New Orleans that came to Indianola, Texas, five times a week. From Indianola passengers rode the daily stage to San Antonio. (Indianola was a seaport, near Victoria, destroyed by a storm in 1875).

Crossing the Desert Muleback

In the 1860 issue of Texas Alamac was an advertisement concerning this stage line, said advertisement guaranteeing that passengers traveling the route would ride in coaches all the way, except when crossing the desert in California. The advertisement did not say it took three days to cross the desert, on muleback, with heat so intense that trips across the hot sands were made at night. Each passenger was allowed forty pounds of baggage besides his blankets and guns. Extra baggage were forty cents a pound to El Paso, one dollar per pound to San Diego.

This line never made expenses, and the company was glad to give up its mail contract when the Civil War broke out.

Stage drivers were forceful characters — not only skilled drivers, but good Indian fighters, jolly companions and generally resourceful men, with good judgment and iron nerves. Two such men were Ben Ficklin and August Santlaben. Their names are synonymous with early stage-coaching in Texas.

Major Ficklin, born in Virginia, was a blockade runner during the Civil War. After the war he came West and got a government contract for handling mail. There was a town named in honor of the major near the present city of San Angelo, Texas, known as Ben Ficklin, and later destroyed by a flood of the two Concho rivers. San Angelo at that time was called San Angelo.

Ordinary Letter 25c an Ounce

August Santlaben started carrying the U. S. mail when 14 years old. His father had a contract to carry the mail once a week between Castorville and Bandera, Texas, (thirty-two miles). This job was turned over to Young Santlaben, who rode horseback. Later, when he had secured a contract of his own, he drove a three-seated hack and in 1867 drove the largest stage-coach in the world, a fine Concord coach weighing 3000 pounds, seating eighteen passengers, and carrying a load of 4000 pounds. The coach was double-decked, accommodating nine passengers inside and nine on top, with folding canvas that could be put up to keep out sun or rain. Mr. Santlaben paid $1,250.00 for the coach, and it was the one used when he established and operated the stage route between San Antonio and Monterey, Mexico, by way of Eagle Pass, a distance of 545 miles.

Since this stage line between San Antonio and Monterey had no connection with the postoffice department, Santlaben could charge what he pleased for delivery of mail and passengers. Ordinary letters were 25c an ounce. Letters sometimes cost their senders as much as $2.00 each, and passenger fare was $75.00 one way. The stage made one round-trip a month. When there were few passengers, on return trips, Santlaben filled his coach with boxes of fine oranges, bought in Monterey for a penny each that he would sell in San Antonio for ten cents each.

For two years Santlaben operated this stage line without a single mishap; however, he discontinued it in 1869 when Mexico changed her custom regulations.

The "Butterfield Trail"

In 1858 the first overland mail route to connect the East with the West, of what is now the United States, passed through Texas. This route was called the "Butterfield Trail" and was 2,579 miles long, the longest in the world by forty per cent. It started at St. Louis, Missouri, came down through Arkansas, crossed Red River at Colbert's Ferry, went through Sherman, Gainesville, and passed on West near what is now Carlsbad, Texas, continuing on to El Paso, following the trail of the 49ers to California.

There were nine bids for this government contract, and it was given to John Butterfield. There was much criticism because this long Southern route was chosen, but the Postmaster General at Washington said that snow in the Rocky Mountains in winter made any other route hazardous.

Like air-transport today, the stage coach was kept alive by mail contracts. Congress appropriated $60,000.00 a year for the mail to be carried over this route twice a week. The Butterfield stage was officially called the "Overland Pacific." Mail from Washington, D. C., prior to this time, had been carried by boat to Panama, overland across the isthmus, and then put on another boat bound for California.

The Overland Pacific coaches started simultaneously, one from St. Louis and one from San Francisco, requiring about 25 days to make a one-way trip. Detours were as necessary then as now, but detours were made mostly on account of hostile Indians. Comanches were bad in Texas and Apaches gave trouble in Arizona. The Butterfield stage line was discontinued in 1861 when Confederate troops seized the relay stations along the way.

The "Great Northern Mail"

In 1850 Clarksville, Greenville, Dallas, Waxahachie, Waco, Georgetown, San Marcos and San Antonio, Texas, were the towns on the western frontier of the State. (Dallas in 1850 had less than a thousand population with reputation for being the wildest and wickedest town in the whole western country). These western towns were gradually joined by mail lines, which in 1858 were merged into the "Great Northern Mail" that carried passengers all the way from Helena, Arkansas, to San Antonio, Texas, a distance of 803 miles.

The stage coach was never popular. People rode it because they had to. Mules pulling the coaches went in gallop day and night. They were changed about every fifteen miles; drivers would change every fifty miles. In dry weather trails were so hot and dusty that passengers had to tie handkerchiefs over their noses in order to breathe freely, and when it rained heavily coaches would stick in the mud. The Great Northern mail had lots of trouble getting its stages through the black waxy belt between McKinney and Austin, Texas; sometimes in the rainy season these towns were without mail for weeks at a time.

When railroads began building into Texas, in 1870, stage line routes and schedules changed constantly and some were discontinued. A few coaches ran as late as 1900 to towns without railroads. But the hard, fast-riding and straight-shooting stage-coach days had passed into history, although they played a romantic and important part in helping to develop and civilize the Western United States.

Evidence to Support the Story of the Flood

By EDWIN C. HILL

WORLD which went wild over the discovery of the tomb of King Tutankhamen has taken with surprising calmness the excavation of Ur of the Chaldees, ancient city at the junction of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers, mentioned in the Bible as the city of Abraham. And yet, these explorations are far more important historically than those which unearthed the young Pharaoh. Such an authority as Dr. Horace F. Jayne classes them as easily the equal of any so far made.

The expedition at Ur, sent out by the British Museum and the University of Pennsylvania, has made its final field report through its director, Dr. C. Leonard Wooley, and from it we learn of the great civilization which existed there 5000 years ago. Bones of men and women, kings and queens, commoners and slaves have been found in 200 graves, of which Dr. Jayne says:

"In these royal tombs, which gave mute evidence of human sacrifices on a lavish scale, were found an unbelievable wealth of jewelry, harps of silver and wood, vessels, weapons and tools of gold and silver, inlaid gaming boards and vanity boxes—all attesting to the artistry, the culture and the luxury of the royal court at Ur 5,000 years ago."

Evidence Proving a Great Deluge

It was at Ur that Dr. Wooley and his diggers came upon a find which scientists accept as direct evidence of the flood described in the Bible. The explorers had unearthed the ruins of a city when they struck a layer of clean white clay, apparently virgin soil with nothing below it. However, they decided to go a little deeper and, to their surprise and delight, came upon a civilization sixty centuries old buried beneath eight feet of this mysterious clay. There could be only one explanation for such a deep layer of sediment separating two distinct civilizations. Dr. Wooley gives it in these words:

"Taking into consideration all the facts, there can be no doubt that the flood of which we had thus found the only possible evidence, was the flood of Sumerian history and legend—the flood on which is based the story of Noah."

One cannot mention the excavation of Biblical lands without bringing in Sir Charles Marston, who made millions building motorcycles, and who is spending them now in Palestine and Mesopotamia to prove the authenticity of the Old Testament. Sir Charles, one of the leading Biblical students of the world, says that it is his purpose to ascertain by excavation how far the early books are correct. He has financed the work of the celebrated Professor John Garstang and the results have been remarkable, particularly those treating with the invasion of the Promised Land by Joshua after the death of Moses.

Men Could Pass Dry Shod Over Jordan

Joshua's passage of the Jordan and his blowing down the walls of Jericho have been classed hitherto not only by skeptics but also by clergymen, as folk stories of the category of Jonah and the whale.

Today it is proved beyond reasonable doubt that landslides and earthquakes, both common to the region, dry up the bed of the Jordan for hours, easily permitting such a passage as that of Joshua and the Israelites. Much of the controversy over the Bible may be traced to the fact that most of us, layman and scientific man alike, read it in the light of conditions and things as they exist today, and not as they might have been 10,000 years ago. Samson's destruction of the temple of the Philistines is a case in point.

The word "temple" conveys to the mind a great building of stone or brick supported by massive columns of like material. If we accept that picture, then we must have a belief in the supernatural to accept the story that a human pulled down the edifice with his hands. Yet a recent archaeological discovery permits, even compels, credence in the story as it appears in the Bible. Excavators may have found at Gezer a temple in the form of a flat roof with galleries all supported on wooden pillars set in stone sockets. A crowd of Philistines could have been on such a roof and a man with not half the prowess which is credited to Samson could have pulled one of the supports out of line, causing the collapse of the structure.

CURRENT COMMENT

A Very Kind Letter

INCE taking the place of that Prince of Writers, Mr. James Lowry, as editor of "Current Comment" in the Magazine Section, I have received quite a number of very kind letters in appreciation of my efforts. I especially was pleased to receive this one: "Waco, Texas, May 31, 1934. Dear Mr. Price: Wish to express to you my personal appreciation of your monthly contributions to the Magazine Section. With no intention to flatter, I think your 'Current Comment' observations will compare favorably with the best editorial writings to-day in America's leading magazines. I wonder how many of your readers feel as I do about your writing but are too lazy to write you a few words of commendation? Have just read your June comments, that's why I am writing this letter. With best wishes and hoping you will continue to write on worthwhile subjects, I am, yours cordially, 'JOE SAPPINGTON.'"

The World's Greatest Woman

Last month saw the passing of one of the world's greatest personages when Madame Marie Curie passed to her reward. Proclaimed the greatest scientist of her sex of all time, the woman whose discovery of radium saved a hundred thousand lives in the world war and brought, and will continue to bring, relief to thousands of cancer sufferers, she died a martyr to science. The physician attending her says: "Her death was caused by her intensive radium and X-ray experiments." This woman in her self-effacing way has always maintained that her husband—Pierre Curie—was joint discoverer with her of radium, but the facts are that she labored four years after her husband's death before radium was discovered. Fame came to her threshold, but she shut the door of her work shop in its face; wealth was hers for the asking, but she turned all money prizes back into her chemistry, or gave it to hospitals for cancer research; luxury might have been her lot without reproach, but she spurned it and lived frugally on her modest salary as a teacher in the University of Paris. She consented to take but a mite of the huge debt owed by the world for the Curie gift to mankind of a substance which enriched many persons and brought relief to thousands of sufferers. When she came to America a few years ago the women of this country raised $100,000, purchased a gram of the precious radium and gave it to her. Even this gift was not used selfishly; she rented it out for $3,500 a year in order to obtain funds for the cancer hospitals in Poland, her birth place. Madame Curie spent twenty-one years of her life in developing this great discovery. During much of that time she worked over a pot of mineral in a Paris woodshed and rode a bicycle half hour each evening for recreation. Radium is the most powerful element known to man. A gram of it has potential energy to heat 32 tons of freezing water to the boiling point in 30 seconds, or drive a 15,000-ton ship at 15 miles an hour for 30 years. Sir William Ramsey, himself a great scientist, estimated a gram of radium would accomplish as much in heat units as 1,500,000 tons of coal.

The Good That Men Do is Not Interred With Their Bones

Just one year ago, July 5th, a great multitude gathered at the grave of Ex-President Calvin Coolidge as he was laid to rest in the hills of his native State, Vermont. There were present leading men from both political parties, and the principal address was made by a man who belonged to the opposite political party to which Mr. Coolidge had given allegiance. All joined to honor him. There is a lesson we should take to heart—the lesson that we should not put so much rancor and abuse in our politics. Everyone recognizes now that Calvin Coolidge was a man of great integrity and a patriot who faithfully served his country. Fifteen years ago the air was filled with vituperous condemnation of Woodrow Wilson, but now he is kindly and justly remembered. In Washington the great Lincoln memorial is visited by children and grandchildren of those who thought him an oppressor. Robert E. Lee's statue stands in the rotunda of the Capitol along with the great men of the past. Sons of Confederates bare their heads before the gigantic bronze figure of Lincoln, while the sons of those who wore the blue stand in reverence before the image of Lee. The Bard of Avon struck a false note when he said: "The evil that men do lives after them, but the good is oft interred with their bones."

Circus Time

It's about time for the circuses to come to the Southwest and I'm hoping they won't pass my town by. Remorseless time has affected many of my earlier enthusiasms, but for me the circus has lost none of its glamour. I have never missed one since as a 12-year-old bare-foot boy in Tennessee I went to see old John Robinson's great circus. I walked 10 miles to see it, getting up at 4 o'clock in the morning. I saw the circus unloaded, I saw the parade, I was one of the first to enter the big tent. My funds would not permit me to enter the numerous side shows with the fat lady, the bearded lady, the lady snake charmer, the educated hog and the wild man from Borneo, but the menagerie, seeing of my first elephant, the lions, sacred cow, giraffe (I have seen but one since) and above all the performers on the trapeze, the tumblers, the riders jumping through burning hoops and the clowns—all entranced and held me spell-bound. Were there ever such funny clowns as Robinson had? I remember one of them sang a song that the worries and trials of more than half a century have not effaced from my memory. I wonder if any oldtimer remembers the chorus:

"O Bridget Donnoho, I'll tell you what I'll do,
You take the name of Patterson and I'll take Donnoho."

Some people in the old days thought the circus something very wicked, but while I was raised by Presbyterian parents there was no inhibition of the circus, although I think there was some criticism of the scanty dressing of lady performers. But what would those critics think of the present day bathing suits? The circus away back there was "gigantic," "stupendous," "colossal," and it was one great event in the life of a country boy.

Why Not a Love Stamp?

The United States postal service issues many different kind of stamps to commemorate events in our nation's history. We have just had the Mother's Day stamp and one commemorating the first settlement of Maryland. A few months ago one was issued in honor of the Byrd exhibition to the South Pole. Mr. Farley, our present Postmaster General, has been quite prolific in the issuing of special stamps. They are many revenues to the postal department. It is estimated that any new stamp brings in a million dollars from stamp collectors all over the world. These stamps are not used on letters, as no service is performed for them. Some twelve years ago the post-office department announced it would issue stamps of several new denominations. I wrote to the Postmaster General suggesting that instead of putting the pictures of statesmen and Presidents on stamps he use the picture of some of our real, but humble heroes, and suggested Nathan Hale and Mollie Pitcher. I received a reply some 60 days later saying that pictures of Hale were available, but none of Mollie Pitcher could be found. When the new stamps came out Nathan Hale appeared on the 1/2-cent stamp. Being encouraged by my success in getting this man's picture on a stamp whose last words were, "My only regret is that I have but one life to give to my country," I have been emboldened to write Mr. Farley and ask him to have a "Love" stamp made for the use of lovers in their correspondence. My suggestion is to have Cupid in a bunch of lilies with the flowers draped just right to properly take the place of the clothes the little god never wears. Cupid is to have his bow and arrow ready for business and the entire stamp to be printed in old rose color. Now, why shouldn't Mr. Farley do this? Stamps have been printed showing the landing of the stern old Pilgrim Fathers, of De Soto discovering the Mississippi, of Washington crossing the Delaware, of Balboa standing on a mountain, the first white man to ever see the Pacific, and many other designs historical and mythical. I believe in giving Dan Cupid a place among the immortals. His is just about the most important business in the world. Were it not for Dan there would have been no Pilgrim Fathers, no George Washingtons, no De Sotos, no Balboas or Admirals Bryds. Please, Mr. Farley, give us a "Lover's Stamp."

Eugenics

The breeding of the super-man has received another jolt. The Society of Eugenics in New York, after several years of instruction to prospective mothers that belong to this society, determined to illustrate the wisdom of their teachings. So they gave a great exhibition in Madison Square Garden of the eugenic babies. But unfortunately for the Eugenic Society, it opened the doors and invited all the mothers of Manhattan who thought they had something worthwhile in the way of babies to bring them to the show. And they brought them. When the exhibition was over and the doctors had thumped all the babies and measured them, and listened to their heart beats and lung respirations, it was found that the eighteen best babies were from what might be called the tenement quarters of the city. The baby that scored the highest was of Polish-Jewish parentage while the next two were twins belonging to an Italian fruit vendor.

The eugenic babies had on the prettiest clothes, but the tape and the thetoscope didn't pay much attention to plumage. All of which doesn't prove that eugenics isn't a good thing but—well—what in the thunder does it prove?

A Belated Honor

A belated honor came to Richard P. Hobson by the action of Congress in making him a Rear Admiral of the navy. He was put on the retired list with a retired officer's salary. Those of us who are older remember how the country thrilled at the daring act of Captain Hobson at Santiago during the Spanish-American war. Next to Dewey and Schley, he was our greatest hero. It will be remembered that the Spanish Commander, Cervera, had by a quick maneuver gained the harbor at Santiago, a harbor reached by a tortuous narrow arm of the sea that crooked and wound for twelve miles from the sea to the harbor where the Spanish fleet lay. The high command of our navy decided on a plan to block that narrow body of water by sending the Merrimac, a coal-ship, into the narrowest point, then sinking it, thereby bottling up the Spaniards.

Hobson volunteered to command the Merrimac on this dangerous adventure. One dark night the feat was attempted; through shot and shell from the Spanish forts the Merrimac steamed into the channel. Arriving at the proper place, it was torpedoed and sunk and Hobson and his crew of seven men surrendered to the enemy. Now, here is the peculiar thing about the brave adventure. The Merrimac, when torpedoed, made a lurch so that in sinking it did not block the channel. But this did not in the least dampen the enthusiasm of the American people. It was what Hobson tried to do that caught their imagination. As a matter of fact, subsequent events proved that it was fortunate the channel was not blocked. Cervera's fleet came out one morning and the American fleet utterly destroyed it. But it took 34 years for the government to reward Hobson for his heroic act.

The Second Elder

Alvin York was said by General Foch to have performed the greatest individual act of heroism to be found anywhere in the annals of war. York was a product of the Tennessee mountains and was the Second Elder in a church that declared wars were wrong. He had a great struggle to decide whether he should enlist in the World War or claim exemption as a conscientious objector. On the advice of his widowed mother and against the advice of his pastor, he enlisted. The world is familiar with the almost unbelievable thing that this mountain boy did one day in the Argonne. His company was trapped in a valley surrounded by German machine nests. He was a sergeant and in a few moments every superior officer was dead or wounded, and when York took command there were only seven men left. I shall not recount how York did it, but alone he killed 26 of the enemy and took 132 prisoners. The reason I am writing about it now is because in the closing days of our last Congress this man's heroic accomplishment was recognized by making him a Major and putting him on the retired list, with a retired officer's salary. When York came back after the war was over he was offered movie contracts that would have brought him half a million dollars, but he refused them as well as other contracts to go on the lecture platform. He chose to go back to his mountain home where he has established a school for those mountain boys and girls.

The English Sparrow Changes Diet

If the Agricultural Department is correct the English sparrow has undergone an entire transformation as to his menu. Heretofore we have looked on these little brown fellows as grain eaters, with an especial liking for garden patches. The Washington experts say this is all changed and that the insect world has no greater enemy than the English sparrow. These experts admit that this change has come about in the last few years and they cannot account for it. But they insist the sparrow is the farmers' friend. If any of these experts had had a pea patch don't know that they would be so loud in praise of what we have always considered a pest. I would add, however, that the A. & M. College of Texas in answer to a query of mine ten years ago said the sparrow was of greater merit than demerit. The department at Washington has seemingly just discovered what our Texas experts learned ten years ago. Personally I have never joined in the efforts that have been made to destroy the sparrow. I never could quite get out of my mind that He who made the Universe is said to "mark the sparrow's fall."

Our Feathered Friends

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has gotten out a pretty booklet, entitled, "Community Bird Refuges," that every farmer should read. It can be had by dropping a card to the Agriculture Department, Washington, D. C. This booklet tells how to attract bird-life to the farm. The value of birds lies chiefly in their destruction of injurious crop insects. Leading an active life, they require much food and prey continually upon all kinds of insects. The various groups of birds differ so much in habits that they feed practically upon all groups of insects; hardly an agricultural pest escapes their attack. The alfalfa weevil has 45 different bird enemies; the army worm, 43; billbugs, 67; cotton boll weevil, 66; brown-tail moth, 31; chestnut weevils, 25; codling moth, 36; cotton worm, 41; cut-worms, 998; forest tent caterpillar, 32; gipsy moth, 46; horseflies, 43; leafhoppers, 120; orchard tent caterpillar, 43; potato beetle, 25; rice weevil, 21; white grubs, 67; wire-worms, 168; 17-year locust, 38; 12-spotted cucumber beetle, 28.

Dreams That Have Plagued Sleeping Hours

By JOE SAPPINGTON

522 Sedwick Ave., Waco, Texas.

(Copyright, 1934, by the Home Color Print Co.)

DON'T believe in dreams, at least not the kind of dreams I have been dreaming.

All my dreams partake of the weird tragic. Dante's vivid imagination, in his portrayal of purgatory, never conjured up anything half so horrible as I have run up against in some of my dreams.

One night, when about 10 years old, I dreamed of being chased by a big black bear; he got so close to me I could feel his breath on the back of my neck, which so frightened me that, in my efforts to escape, I kicked my brother out of bed. It made him mad and he lit into me with his fists before I could offer an explanation. In another dream

"I had to circle a good deal on account of my bum wing."

I was a fish nibbling at a grasshopper. The next thing I knew I had been caught in the gills with a hook and was floundering on the bank gasping for air. This dream seemed so real that, upon awakening, normal respiration had ceased and I almost choked to death before recovering my breath.

One of the craziest dreams I ever experienced was an excursion I took to the moon on the back of a dragon. So far as I know I'm the only person born and reared in the Cave Creek community who has made a round-trip visit to the moon. Have always regretted that my brief stay on the moon's surface gave me little time to look around and enjoy the scenery. But my dragon got frightened at a big heavy-set, six-legged, three-eyed monster and came flying back to Cave Creek in double-quick time.

Falling Down a Precipice

The worse feeling one can have is to realize one has lost his or her toe-hold and is falling from a great height sheer down a precipice. It's a good thing we usually wake up before hitting bottom or the shock would surely kill us.

Never shall I forget the sensation that came over me the night I was sailing around among the stars, having a swell time, until one of my wings ripped. I remember distinctly it was my left wing that went bad. The other wing functioned all right, but was doing double duty and I had trouble keeping an even keel. I was several million miles from base when the wing accident occurred and I began to lose altitude, wobbled and beat around in a circle. After flopping and tacking about in the stratosphere for almost an hour I came in sight of my home, but none too soon, as my good wing had been losing feathers rapidly and was getting weaker and weaker. I was so close to the ground I could hear my home folks shouting for joy that I had returned safely from the Milkyway. I had to circle a good deal on account of my bum wing, and yelled to folks below to be patient while I gradually worked my way down.

Saved by a Wagon Sheet

Realizing my predicament and fearing that I would crash, the folks grabbed a wagon sheet and all hands held it taut, thus providing me a safe landing place. Even at this far distant day I can see those dear friends and loved ones manipulating that old wagon sheet for my benefit. When about fifty feet from the ground I folded my tired wing, yelled at the top of my voice, "Look out, here I come," and fell off the bed, just like I did the night I rode the dragon to the moon.

One of my most disturbing dreams in recent years happened the other night. I dreamed the Republicans were back in power, that Senator Borah was President and that he was kicking the codes and the New Deal out of the White House back door. Always a staunch Democrat, I was overwhelmed with joy when I awoke and realized this was only a dream.

Somehow, my dreams never have a happy ending. The older and balder I get the worse the dreams.

Duncan Specializes in Rearing Manly Boys

(Copyright, 1934, by the Home Color Print Co.)

ONE of the principal enterprises in Duncan, Oklahoma, is the rearing of manly boys. There are boys and boys in Duncan, but until a little over a year ago just a few of them attended Sunday School. Then Rev. Carl V. Covey came to Duncan and accepted the pastorate of the First Christian Church. He had a vision for the youth of the city. He could see possibilities lying dormant in many of the boys who were idly roaming the city streets Sundays and other days of the week. Most of these boys came from homes of the poor or unemployed. So numerous were they that it presented a real community problem. From time to time they became involved in petty crimes and some were sent to a reformatory.

Opportunity to Develop

Mr. Covey said it was part of his responsibility to see that these boys had an opportunity to develop into upright citizens. With this in mind he got seven or eight of them to join him one

Sunday morning, while he taught them a Bible lesson. Next week and the following week he held a weiner roast and a track meet for them. These events were so much appreciated and enjoyed by the boys that they began to tell other boys of the great fun derived in belonging to Mr. Covey's Sunday School class. As a consequence of this solicitation, the class began to grow in membership by leaps and bounds. Parents also became interested and provided good things to eat for the boys when on hikes or picnics. The barbers of Duncan helped along the good cause by giving free haircuts to the boys. Other citizens gave books, clothing and medical and physical attention.

Membership Grows

Thus the boys have been tutored the past sixteen months. They have heard the Scriptures read and explained each Sunday morning. From the small beginning of eight boys the class has grown to total membership of almost 200. Three other persons assist Rev. Covey in handling the class; among them A. B. Pullen, song leader. Can these boys sing? Just ask Rev. Covey or Mr. Pullen.

Dr. Josephine Bates tells the boys an interesting story every Sunday morning. Miss Veronelle Pruitt is the class secretary.

This Sunday School class is thought to be the largest group of underprivileged boys in the United States, outside of reformatories. Among other things they are taught that honesty is always the best policy, that physical, mental and moral cleanliness are the three cardinal principles of right living and right thinking.

BURNED IN FREAK ACCIDENT

A. S. James of Denton almost lost the sight of both eyes recently by a most unusual accident. He attempted to dry the spark plugs of his automobile with a piece of flaming paper when an explosion occurred, setting fire to the celluloid rims of his glasses. His left eye was badly burned.

TEXAS PROFESSOR HONORED

W. P. Webb, Ph. D., professor of history at the University of Texas, has been employed to prepare a course in English for more than 2,000 employees of Dun and Bradstreet, credit and commercial report agency. Mr. Webb will resign from the summer school to map out the course. He is the author of a number of books about the history and pioneer life of Texas.

CANDIDATES EXCEED AUDIENCE

Cameron county candidates have about decided that voters should do the talking and candidates the listening. This, they hope, would increase the size of audiences. Forty candidates, who recently went to a rally in a community near Harlingen, had an audience of but six persons. It was then suggested that the voters talk and the candidates listen.

MAKES HOOKED RUGS

Fred Welpton of Wichita Falls is making hooked rugs and wall hangings. First beginning the work as an antidote for the depression, Welpton discovered that rugs could be woven into beautiful pictures and designs. He started by copying magazine covers and other designs for small rugs and hangings. His largest rug is 9½ by 7½ feet, which he claims is the largest ever hooked by hand. It contains almost 100 pounds of rugs and took him 14 months to make.

WHIRLWIND DELIVERS TWO CHICKENS

There was a freak whirlwind near Floydada, and after it had passed E. L. Campbell, who farms near that town, found two chickens in his yard where no chickens were before. One of the chickens died from injuries received while being blown about by the wind. The other chicken, alive and doing well, has been named "Cyclone Bill."

A DANIEL BOONE POWDER HORN

It was 120 years ago that Daniel Boone hunted in the mountains of Kentucky with his companion, Peyton Wade Nowlin. The powder horn used by the latter has been presented to the University of Texas library by Mr. Nowlin's grand-daughter, Mrs. Lena Dancy Ledbetter of Austin. The horn is of polished copper, depicting two horsemen blowing their hunting bugles. Acorns and nuts, typical of those found along Texas water courses, complete the decorations on the horn.

BACKWARD IN HEALTH MATTERS

Dr. John W. Brown, State health officer, declares that Texas "is backward in public health matters." He says that about 4,500,000 residents of the State are potential victims of malaria, and that the annual toll of this disease is 109,000. While Texas is spending 3.6 cents per year on maintaining the health of its citizens, other States, such as New York, spend 40.3 cents per capita per year. Meanwhile, he added, large amounts are appropriated by the Texas legislature for tick eradication and other measures to promote health of animals.

VETS BUILD HOME

Miss Marjorie Hamilton of Paducah for several years has been a leader in poppy sales for James W. Bullock Post, No. 216 of Paducah. The post has a membership of 157, and is one of the largest of the Panhandle posts. It has received both State Commander's and National Commander's citation for membership. A new post home, just completed, is 40 by 80 feet, located on paved Highway No. 28, just east of Paducah. One of the major objectives of the post this year has been child welfare work, and in connection with the Cottle county child welfare board the post has done a great work in bringing relief to crippled children.

30 DOCTORS LOST LICENSES

At the last meeting of the State Board of Medical Examiners, at Fort Worth, licenses of 30 Texas doctors were revoked and 35 more were placed on probation for a year, due to the use of narcotics for themselves and for illegal sale of narcotics, which makes a total of 37 licenses revoked since the law was passed in 1933. Dr. I. A. Withers of Fort Worth, president of the board, said:

"This narcotic question is a vicious thing, and we are going to weed out of the medical profession all who have become addicts to dope or who handle it illegally. Most of those whose licenses we have had to revoke are doctors between 60 and 70. It is a pathetic situation, but we can not afford to have men who are dope addicts handling our sick even if they are trained physicians."

16,000-POUND CORNERSTONE

The cornerstone of the State Capitol at Austin is one of the heaviest (if not the heaviest) in the United States. Of red granite and weighing 16,000 pounds, it required 16 yoke of oxen to haul it from the quarry, 15 miles, to Burnet, and from there it was taken to Austin by train. The cornerstone was laid on the 49th anniversary of Texas independence, March 2, 1885.

CURFEW WANTED ON RADIOS

Irate apartment owners in a neighborhood populated by fraternity and rooming houses in Austin have demanded of the city council a 10 o'clock curfew on radios. Radios, it was complained, are becoming standard equipment of university students and too often they are operated at maximum volume during all hours of the night. Not long ago the council adopted an ordinance curtailing the use of radio loudspeakers in Austin after 11 p. m.

TEXAN MAKES TARGET RECORD

At the thirteenth annual meet of the Eastern Small Bore Association, in the Swiss rifle match at Camp Ritchie, Cascade, Mo., Thurman Randle of Dallas fired two hours and 17 minutes before he missed a bullseye. Mr. Randle, one of the best rifle shots in the Eastern part of the United States, scored 196 consecutive bullseyes before he missed, surpassing by 71 points the former record of 125 made by H. McGarity of Washington, D. C., at Camp Perry, Ohio, about 10 years ago.

WOMAN REPAYS STOLEN MONEY

While cashier in a theater at Austin 10 years ago a woman stole $2.50. Recently she repaid the amount fourfold. J. J. Hegman, owner of the theater, received a letter from the woman telling him of her theft of $2.50 and enclosing $10 to square it. Though married and now living elsewhere, the woman's conscience and religious scruples prompted her to return the money, she said.

PLOWS UP LOST WATCH

Don L. Dyer, who lives on the Whiteface farms just over the line in Hockley county, lost his watch June 27, 1933, while planting maize in a field. A short time ago, working in the same field, the chain of his lost watch was caught by cultivator knives and brought to the surface. When Mr. Dyer rubbed off the dirt, and re-wound the watch, it began ticking as though never lost.

GOOD WAY TO GET RID OF SUCKERS AND CARP

A use has been found for suckers and carp from experiments conducted in the feeding of small bass at the State fish hatcheries, says W. J. Tucker of the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission. For many years efforts to feed bass fry on still foods were without results. This year young bass have been taught to eat suckers and carp that are passed through meat grinders, and the young bass are thriving on the diet. These forced feeding methods will greatly reduce the cannibalism that takes place in rearing ponds when bass are compelled to resort to live foods.

SUNDAY SCHOOL FOUNDERS HONORED

Two men who were instrumental in the founding of the Methodist Sunday School at Cuthbert, Mitchell county, 44 years ago, were honored at an all-day program and dinner given by the Methodist church of that community. These men were G. W. Womack of Cuthbert and N. T. Womack of Colorado. They and a few other "nesters" and ranch hands held the first Sunday School services in the community under a crudely constructed brush arbor in a pasture.

CENTENNIAL BUREAU ESTABLISHED

C. B. Long, a World War veteran, has been placed in charge of the information bureau of the American Legion Centennial committee at Washington, D. C. He has been stationed there primarily to answer queries and to give information sought by parties interested in the Texas Centennial in 1936. He also will give information about the Texas State Memorial Museum which the Legion committee proposes to build on the University of Texas campus from the sale at a premium of 1,500,000 Texas silver 50-cent pieces which are to be minted by the government for the committee.

SOME SCRAMBLING OF EGGS

Those who saw the accident, declared it was the world's largest scrambling of eggs. A truck loaded with 122 cases of eggs (to be exact 43,900 eggs), went into a ditch and turned over near Streetman while en route from Dallas to Bryan. Every egg on the truck was broken.

OBSERVATORY FOR COMMERCE

A 120-foot watch tower and observatory post to be used as a laboratory for the study of the earth's curvature and general topographic layout, is to be erected at Commerce by the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey. The tower, which will look like a giant cornucopia, will be composed of two towers, one inside the other. A scientist will be perched on the outside tower studying the delicate instruments set on top of the inside tower.

WELL ORDERED STRAIGHTENED OUT

The Llewellyn No. 2 in the Conroe field, known as Texas' famous crooked oil well, has been ordered straightened out again by the Railroad Commission. Originally drilled straight down, it struck salt water. The Adeltex Oil Company then drilled just enough of an angle to get into the oil which lay at the edge of the Llewellyn. This drilling, said the commission in a recent order, was not authorized. The company was instructed to drill a new hole which should be straight up and down rather than at an angle.

OLD AND NEW METHODS OF DRILLING OIL WELLS

A celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the drilling of the Drake well was held by the oil industry at the International Petroleum Exposition and Congress in Tulsa, Okla., May 12 to 19. A replica of the Drake well, on the exposition grounds, was used in the ceremony. The above picture indicates the progress made in drilling since 1859 when Colonel Drake struck oil at 69½ feet, near Titusville, Pennsylvania. The crude tools have been gradually replaced with huge rotary drilling equipment capable of drilling to depths of 15,000 feet or more. In the foreground is seen the springpole, the earliest form of derrick used in drilling. Just back of it is the Drake well type of derrick. Farther back are shown modern 120-foot derricks photographed on the grounds of the exposition. Tools such as used on the Drake well was on display at the exposition; also modern tools in actual operation of drilling.

Today, wells have been drilled to depths of more than two miles, or one thousand seven hundred times deeper than Drake drilled. Some of the deepest holes are: a well in Kettleman Hills field in California, 10,000 feet; one in Old Mexico at 10,585 feet; and, one at Cement, Oklahoma, at 10,076½ feet. There are good producing wells in the Big Lake, Reagan county, Texas, field at depths of between 8,000 and 9,000 feet.

MANY INQUIRIES FOR HAT

H. C. Hudson, who ranches near Dearth, having found a broad-brimmed hat in his pasture not long ago, advertised for its owner. The ad brought him about a dozen letters of inquiry. One letter was from Folsom, N. M., 110 miles to the northwest; and another letter from 50 miles to the southwest, indicating men seem to have trouble keeping up with their hats.

THREE "CENTERS" IN TEXAS

When you may have occasion to address a letter to a party in Center be sure you know which Center you are sending it to, for there are three in Texas—one each in Shelby, Limestone and Lamb counties. There are two Centervilles, one in Dallas and the other in Leon county. To further complicate matters there are Center City (Mills county), Center Point (Kerr county), Centerline (Jones county), and Center Mill (Hood county).

FAILURES DURING JUNE DECREASE

Commercial failures in Texas continue low in comparison with last year. During June there were 17 failures, compared with 27 in June, 1933. During the first six months of the present year there were but 130 failures, against 321 in the corresponding period last year. Liabilities of the bankrupt firms totaled $194,000 in June, a decrease of 59 per cent from June last year.

WOMAN JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

Randall county has a woman justice of the peace. She is Mrs. Loraine Stokes of Amarillo, appointed to succeed her father, W. C. Stevenson, resigned, in Precinct No. 4, in South Amarillo. She is the third person to be justice in that precinct since the first of the year.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR 104 YEARS OLD

Laredo boasts of having the oldest athletic director in the world, Pioquinto Sanchez, 104 years old. He is now training a class of 32 young men, being the director for the Association Cultural de Jovenes Mexicanos. The class was started five months ago and its work in acrobatics, tumbling, trapeze, rings and bars speaks well for the aged coach. Mr. Sanchez says he was born in Zacatecas, Mexico, May 5, 1930, and began his athletic career when 12 years old.

BROWN COUNTY SELLS WATER

The Brown County Water Improvement District No. 1 recently sold 14,000-acre feet, or 4,573,800,000 gallons of water to the Gulf Coast Water Company of Bay City for $10,000. The water made a journey of 480 miles to the drought stricken rice fields of Wharton and Matagorda counties. By gravitation flow the water was about two weeks reaching its destination. As far as known it is the longest delivery of irrigation water yet attempted in Texas. The water went down Pecan Bayou into the Colorado river on past Austin, to be picked up by huge pumps of the water company and discharged into the rice fields, saving the crops of about 95 rice growers.

STRANGE LAW SUIT SETTLED

W. A. Burnett, a Dallas roofing contractor, was buried recently in that city, and thereby ended one of the strangest law suits in Texas legal annals. For six months the man's body lay in a sealed casket while his relatives fought over where the body should be buried. One group demanded that Mr. Burnett be buried beside his first wife in St. Louis; the other group that he be laid to rest in Dallas. After the case had been taken to the Texas Supreme Court, and a decision rendered, Mr. Burnett was buried in Dallas.

FINGERS, FLIES, FOOD

The Texas State Department of Health has joined the government and other organizations in the use of letters to designate phases of its work. The letters used at this time are FFF, which stand for fingers, flies and food, said to be the three most common methods of transmitting diseases such as typhoid fever, diarrhea, dysentery and enteritis. The three Fs are three sources of danger to a baby, in that flies carry disease germs to the infant and its food, fingers and hands not thoroughly washed before preparing baby's food are likely to carry germs to this food. All milk and water intended for the baby should be boiled for five minutes and then carefully covered and kept in a cool place until used.

SEEKING VINEGAR FROM HONEY

Texans who have bee hives from which an inferior grade of honey is frequently taken, and for which there is no ready market, will be interested in experiments being made by chemists of the United States Department of Agriculture looking to production of vinegar from low grade honey. The present studies are directed to finding just which of the honeys not in demand for table use are most desirable as sources of vinegar making.

WILL LINE ROAD WITH DATE PALMS

Highway No. 4 will be lined on both sides with date palms through Dimmit county. It is considered the most ambitious highway beautification program in Texas under the direction of the highway department. The Winter Garden experiment station in Dimmit county grew 10,000 palms for the experiment. Dimmit county is one of two or three sections in the State where date palms will grow. Palms along this highway will be alternated with Spanish Daggers and other native shrubs.

ROOSEVELT READING TEXAS HISTORY

In the library of the cruiser Houston just before it sailed for South America with President Roosevelt aboard, was placed at his request a history of Texas, by the late Col. Louis Wortham, once editor of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

The President has expressed a desire to visit Vice-President Garner at his home in Uvalde, during the summer of 1935, and also expects to visit other Texas cities at that time. He wants to know more of the only State, which in 1932, gave him a larger majority than his own home State, New York.

COURT CLERK HAS WRITER'S CRAMP

The next legislature may be asked to change the law whereby proceedings of the Texas Supreme Court may be transcribed by typewriter rather than by pen and ink. H. L. Clamp, deputy clerk of the court, is the complainant. He has writer's cramp from long transcribing the proceedings. They must be written in long hand in ink, as provided in a statute passed shortly after the court was organized in the days of the Texas Republic. When the court was organized there was little litigation and it was a comparatively easy task for the clerk to make the entries by hand. Meanwhile the court's business has multiplied by leaps and bounds. The court itself has been increased to nine members through appointment of six commissioners to aid the three judges. Clerks also have been added, but Mr. Clamp must laboriously write the minutes in the same old way.

MONEY ALLOTTED FOR DAM

The Hamilton dam in the Colorado river, near Burnett, is to be completed with an allotment of $4,500,000 by the Public Works Loan body. It is one of the largest power projects in the Southwest. Work on the $6,000,000 project was stopped two years ago by the collapse of the Insull utilities empire, which was financing it. When finally completed the dam will impound 1,000,000 acres feet of water and will assure a constant flow of water in the Colorado river. The dam will be 7,000 feet long and 137 feet high over the river, and will make use of flood waters on the Colorado. It will be constructed in two units so that one can be impounding water while the other is being completed. It will require about 18 months to complete the project. The original plan of the dam calls for production of 20,000 kilowatts of electrical energy, or a constant 20,000 horsepower supply of energy. Building of facilities for a second 20,000 kilowatt unit will be provided for if the government plans follow out the original program.

COLLECTION OF STATE TAXES

Less than a quarter of the State's "tax dollar" is derived from ad valorem sources. In 1933 the collected tax was $89,546,218, according to the annual report of the Comptroller. It shows that for the last fiscal year, property taxes contributed 22.96 cents of every $1 of State income. To effectuate any substantial saving in regard to the State property tax, it is pointed out it would be necessary to virtually abolish the ad valorem tax.

Out of the $89,546,218 collected during the fiscal year, property tax amounted to $20,559,737. It was exceeded by the gasoline tax, amounting to $26,891,612. The gasoline tax share of the State dollar was 30.03 cents. Other sources of income contributing one penny or more to the State dollar included: Poll tax, 1.15 cents; gross receipts tax (oil and gas), 7.41 cents; insurance companies occupation tax, 2.25 cents; other occupation taxes, 1.4 cents; cigarette tax, 3.54 cents; franchise tax, 1.47 cents; and licenses, including auto licenses, 5.45 cents. In addition the State collected 1.35 cents from fees and permits; 2.52 cents from land sales and royalties; 3.39 cents from interest and penalties.

A LITTLE FUN Jokes to Make You Laugh

Playing 'Possum
"No, suh," the old negro asserted, with a melancholy shaking of his bald head, "dar hain't no trustin' a 'possum. Once on a time, suh, I done watched de hole of a 'possum all night. At las', suh, de 'possum he come out ob dat hole, an' what yoh tink de ole scallywog did? Well, suh, he done come out, an' when he done come out, he was a polecat!"

The Little Girl's Report
The little girl reported at home what she had learned at Sunday School concerning the creation of Adam and Eve: "The teacher told us how God made the first man and the first woman. He made the man first. But the man was very lonely with nobody to talk to him. So God put the man to sleep. And while the man was asleep, God took out his brains, and made a woman of them."

Tit for Tat
The prize bull-dog attacked a farmer, who defended himself with a pitchfork, and in doing so killed the dog. The owner was greatly distressed, and reproached the farmer. "Why didn't you use the other end of the fork," he demanded, "and just eat him off, without killing him." "I would have," the farmer answered, "if he had come at me with the other end."

Here's to the chigger, That grows no bigger Than the point of a pin. But the lump he raises Itches like biazes, And that's where the rub comes in.

Point of View
A couple from Boston spent a winter in Augusta, Georgia. During the period of their visit, they became fond of an old colored woman, and even invited her to visit their home at their expense. In due time after the couple's return to Boston, the old colored woman was entertained. Every courtesy was extended to her, and she even had her meals with the host and hostess. One day at dinner, the host remarked, with a certain smug satisfaction in his own democratic hospitality: "I imagine that, during all the time you were a slave, your master never invited you to eat at his table."

"No, suh, dat he didn't," replied the old dorky. "My master was a gent'l'man. He neber let no nigger set at table 'long side o' him."

Eddie Cantor Story
Perhaps I could save a little more if I listened to my father-in-law. He's a man who believes that nothing should cost more than twenty dollars. In fact, he drives economy to the other extreme. But even his economy doesn't work out. Last winter I bought him a new overcoat for seventy-five dollars, but I couldn't tell him it cost more than twenty or he wouldn't wear it. So I said, "Pop, look at this overcoat I got you for twenty dollars." He criticized me for my extravagance, but admired the quality of the cloth. The next day he called me up excitedly and said, "Eddie, quick, get me six more of those overcoats." "Why?" I asked. "I just sold the one you bought me for thirty dollars!"—Saturday Evening Post.

Poultry Facts By F. W. KAZMEIER Poultry Breeder, Bryan, Texas

Poultry and Drouth
The extremely dry weather, in most sections of the Southwest, will mean a shortage of home-grown feeds. It will also mean higher prices for all feeds. This fact will discourage most kinds of livestock raising. The government is buying cattle by the thousands and slaughtering and canning them for relief food. This will no doubt soon cause a shorter supply of cattle, raising the price of beef. Low prices of pork and beef have, in the past year, had a tendency to hold down prices of poultry meats. We may expect this to change soon. High feed and the dry weather will surely lead in 1935 to higher prices of pork and beef. In other words, one more factor that has been holding down poultry meat prices, namely, low priced pork and beef, should be removed by 1935.
Feed Prices
As already stated, we may expect high feed prices for the balance of 1934 and the early part of 1935. Cannot see how it would be otherwise. In my observation, covering a period of over 18 years, I have always found that as a general rule the commercial poultry-raiser of the Southwest and Middle West more or less profit from his flock in time of high feed prices than in time of low feed prices. For this reason I claim high feed prices will bring higher poultry prices to poultry raisers of the Southwest. As an actual fact, what happens during a period of high feed prices is that the large commercial poultry flocks, and even farm flocks, in the East around our large consuming centers are forced out of business, because they can not afford high feed prices and transportation costs of feed from the Middle West to the East. As a result, the poultry flocks of the East are thereby greatly reduced in number, resulting in a decreased egg and poultry meat production, causing prices of eggs and poultry to go up. In other words, it is more economical to ship the finished product in eggs and fryers to the East than raw materials, like corn, wheat, milo, etc.

LIVESTOCK SITUATION IN TEXAS

Purchase of 114,252 cattle and calves in Texas as a drouth relief measure by the government at the close of business, July 19, gives a pretty good index to the livestock situation in this State. Practically all over Texas rainfall was insufficient for more than four months to supply livestock with water or to keep grass growing on the ranges. On July 25 a meeting of interested livestock men was called in Denver to extend the government's purchasing program to sheep and goats and it was believed that meeting would result in the purchase of many thousands of these animals to keep them from starvation. The AAA also was lending money to owners to buy feed for such animals as they desired to retain on farms and ranches. Animals purchased by the AAA were either killed on the farms, shipped to packing houses and processed for relief uses, or shipped to green areas for grazing. Payments to cattle-men in 16 Western States to July 19 totaled $5,910,000 for 1,100,000 cattle from 89,113 farms, these cattle representing 32.8 per cent of the total inventory of 3,515,903 head of cattle on these farms. Showers scattered over wide areas after the middle of July helped conditions, but there were still vast expanses of territory in this State needing water, both for livestock to drink and to bring out grass.

HIGHWAYS CLEANED BY MAGNET

The State Highway Department's magnetic nail picking machine has cleaned Highways 7, 8 and 35 in Shelby county, collecting more than 1,200 pounds of nails, screws, bolts, spikes, tacks, wires, broken car springs, horse shoes, washers and other articles. In Nacogdoches county the same machine picked up more than 1,700 pounds of nails and other metallic articles scattered along highways, the bane of motorists when it comes to tire punctures. The magnets have a span of eight feet, propelled by motor, which travels about four miles an hour.

BUILDING SCHOOL FROM ROCK FENCES

Round Rock will have one of the most unique school houses in the State, built of rocks used more than 100 years ago to construct rock fences bordering farm lands in that section.

OIL INDUSTRY SHOWS STRENGTH

Removal of approximately 1,500 cars of surplus gasoline from the East Texas refinery market by co-operative major company purchasing during the last half of June and early July has added material strength to the oil industry of Texas. Lower Federal crude oil production quotas, which become effective August 1, are expected to drive another prop under the "dollar-per-barrel" price and permit continued profitable operations of the State's 14,000 oil wells. Texas' daily average oil production is about 1,120,000 barrels and has become the biggest crop in the State, replacing cotton as the chief source of revenue. Out of the total revenue of $1,120,000 daily for crude oil as such, royalty owners, consisting predominantly of Texas farmers, land owners and professional men, derive $140,000 per day.

TEXAS HEROES GIVEN BATH

For the first time in the memory of the oldest employees of the State capitol, at Austin, Sam Houston and Stephen F. Austin got a good scrubbing recently, and it was not Saturday night, either. The marble statues of the two Texas heroes, which stand in the rotunda of the capitol building, were scrubbed with soap and water by a veteran negro porter. Years of accumulated dust had turned the white marble likenesses into smutty gray. The statues were made by Elizabeth Ney, Austin sculptress, in the early 1900s.

WILL PAY CASH FOR CITRUS FRUIT

At the last meeting of the Texas Citrus Fruit Growers' Association, with headquarters at Mission, John W. Shary, the Rio Grande Valley "Citrus King," was re-elected president. The stockholders have decided that the exchange this year will supplant its co-operative pool payment plan for growers with a cash basis plan. All fruit will be paid for in cash as soon as it is picked out of the exchange's various packing plants in the valley. Formerly the payments were made at the close of each selling, or pool, season.

And the devil, that deceived them, was cast into the lake of fire and brimstone, where the beast and the false prophet are, and shall be tormented day and night for ever and ever. Rev. 20:10.

RAILROAD INCOMES SHOW GAIN

The first quarterly report of the Railroad Commission for 1934 reveals a net railway operating income for lines in Texas of $833,817 as against a deficit of $1,651,669 for the same period of 1933. Freight revenues increased from $27,028,107 to $30,421,808; passenger revenues were up $2,119,107 from last year's total of $2,063,133. Mail revenues showed a decline, with a total this year of $1,233,337 as against last year's total of $1,250,222. Total expenditures for all operating costs were $29,643,671 as against $28,123,937 last year.

PALO DURO PARK TRAILS NAMED

Palo Duro State Park trails have been named by the state board as follows: Kiowa, Quannah Parker, Coronado, McKenzie and Harrell. The first four commemorate the Indian, Spanish and American military periods of the canyon's history. The Harrell trail leads from the bottom of the canyon to the rim, and finally to the Harrell ranch headquarters. It is named for E. D. Harrell, ranchman of Randall county, who was much interested in developing Palo Duro Canyon. Other names officially approved include Goodnight Lookout, Fortress Cliffs, The Capitol, The Cathedral, Devil's Tombstone and Chief Satanta, an Indian chief known as the orator of the Plains, who fought the battles of his tribesmen in council and legislative halls of the whites.

STEALS CHICKENS—LOSES $10

When Mrs. J. H. Phillips, who lives near Chillicothe, went to her hen house not long ago she was surprised to find two crisp $5 bills on the ground in front of the door. She was due for another surprise a few moments later when she looked into the hen house and discovered that some of her best hens were missing. She believes that the man who stole the fowls unintentionally dropped the $5 bills. But Mrs. Phillips feels well compensated, for the number of hens taken were worth less than $10.

Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city. Rev. 2:14.

Sinclair Dealers Fight $40,000,000 Bootleg Racket
The American Automobile Association believes that motor oil bootleggers steal $40,000,000 from Americans annually on short measure alone. A. A. A. investigators who bought oil in 100 service stations in a large city were short-measured in 79 cases. In 40 cases they got an inferior oil. In 63 cases an oil of the wrong grade was substituted. The conditions discovered by the Automobile Association do not exist when you stop at a Sinclair station. Here you are sold Sinclair Motor Oils in Tamper-Proof cans. These cans are filled and sealed at Sinclair refineries with a full measure of Sinclair Opaline Motor Oil or Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oil.

TEXAS FARM REPORTS

The best time generally to mow weeds is when they are starting to bloom.

Since one dozen eggs contain about one pint of water, clean, fresh pure water should be kept constantly before the hens.

Five new canneries will work throughout the season in Hopkins county putting up fruits, vegetables and meats for distribution.

Estimates place the farm population of the United States on January 1, 1934, at 32,509,000, a new all-time peak.

Sub-irrigation is an advantage over surface irrigation because it decreases soil crusting. One sack of cement will make 110 feet of tile for sub-irrigation.

Production of cantaloupes in the Pecos Valley will be small this year. Only about 100 acres were planted, compared with 300 acres last season.

Six more silos will be dug in Walker county this year because Roy Chapman fed 392 head of cattle for market last season, using for roughness 120 tons of seeded ribbon cane buried in a trench 120 feet long.

Valuation of cattle in Reeves county for taxable purposes has been reduced from $15 to $12.50 per head. Assessment of land remains the same as last year.

A chamber of commerce has been organized at Conroe with many farmers as members. The objective will be paved streets, new industries and improved living conditions for farmers.

The first bale of cotton this season, raised in Nueces county, was sold at auction at Corpus Christi for $150. It was grown by Henry von Huevel of the Robstown section.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Russell of Thrall had an unusual experience a short time ago. One egg was left after a brood of chicks had been removed from a nest. Five days later the egg hatched without being covered although the nights were cool.

There is still a bit of virgin forest in East Texas. The Minter Woods, a few miles west of Woodville, is a stately stretch of primeval forest unscathed by the timberman's axe or lumberman's saw. Some of the trees are over 200 feet tall.

Of the various causes which contributed to reduction from full yield per acre of cotton in Texas the last nine years, deficient moisture caused a greater acreage reduction than boll weevil alone, but when other insects are included, deficient moisture ranked second.

Doss Seago, a ranchman near Alice, shipped two unusual grass-fed steers to the Fort Worth market. One weighed 1,640 pounds and the other 1,540. They are said to have been the heaviest grass-fed steers from that section of South Texas in a number of years. They brought 6 cents a pound.

The value of hegari as a silage crop and the trench silo as a storehouse have been demonstrated in Comal county. One man made beef calves weigh 30 pounds more per head on an ensilage-cottonseed meal ration than a neighbor feeding similar calves could do on bundle hegari-cottonseed meal ration.

More than 15,000,000 horses and mules are still in harness in the United States.

J. A. Brogotti, secretary of the Gilmer Chamber of Commerce, is endeavoring to interest capital in a pickling and canning plant for that city.

Up to date more than 21,300 cutter cows have been slaughtered in Texas and put into more than 3,625,000 containers. The cost was about 18 cents per can.

Forty Mason county women in eight months made 5,070 pounds of cottage cheese, 2,216 pounds of processed cheese and 256 pounds of American cheese.

C. C. Barneburg of San Antonio has a wild mustang grapevine in his yard that produces three varieties of domestic grapes. They were grafted to the mustang grapevine as parent stock. All produce freely.

The fig crop this year, in Harris county, according to Thomas Garth of Highlands, will surpass any previous crop. Orchards in that section are expected to produce over 1,500,000 pounds of figs.

Man-made grazing is what Fritz Mueller of Rutledgeville community, Fayette county, calls his 12-acre permanent pasture, started two years ago. He sowed dallis grass, sweet clover and black medic.

To June 30 Texas cotton and wheat farmers have been paid in rental and benefit payments a total of $54,933,679, according to information released by the agricultural adjustment administration.

Paper shell pecans should be more plentiful in Chambers county in the next few years if the farm demonstration agent is successful in his attempt to convert native seedling pecan trees into more desirable thin shell varieties.

A cargo of 605 saddle horses were shipped from Port of Houston to Buenaventura, Colombia, South America. They were loaded into specially built stalls. A cargo of 176 mules recently sailed from Houston to Barcelona, Spain.

Three loads of Sudan hay were put in the space formerly occupied by one load on the farm of George Kemp, dairyman, near Ballinger. He ran the hay through an ensilage cutter, which blew it into the barn, thus saving labor, space and time required for loose hay. The cut hay also is left in a more convenient form for use in mixing dairy rations.

Experiments on the control and eradication of prickly pear were begun by the Texas Agriculture Experiment Station in January, 1933. Applications of a number of different poisons at different seasons have resulted in the recommendation of a poison consisting of 3 pounds of arsenic pentoxide, 1/2 pint of sulphuric acid, and one gallon of water. The poison should be applied during the summer months or during a period from the middle of May to the middle of October, using a specially made sprayer. An injector also may be used to apply the poison. Generally better results will be secured by spray than by injecting because many plants are overlooked and not poisoned when the injector is used. For average conditions pears may be killed for approximately 20 cents per acre. Since arsenic is a deadly poison, livestock should be removed from the pasture where pear is being poisoned and kept out for two or three weeks.

Dan McDonald of Rockwall reports that his 15-month-old Jersey heifer gave birth to a calf recently. He thinks it a record for a cow to have a calf at that age.

Mrs. Dora Roberts is erecting a novel farm house of native stone on her 28-section ranch 22 miles southeast of Big Spring. A generator propelled by wind will supply electric power and lights.

It is believed that at least 10 bushels more oats per acre were made on the 40-acre field of Tom Homlesley of Comanche county than would have been produced had the land not been terraced.

In May, for the first time in two years, seed of Sudan grass was imported into the United States, reflecting a strong demand brought on by emergency conditions. The May imports amounted to 80,900 pounds.

D. J. Hare, Tom Green county farmer, a short time ago received his $132 check for 1933 cotton acreage reduction. The payment from the Federal government was a year late in reaching him, and for what reason he does not know.

Experiments in the culture of wild dewberries have proven profitable to Mrs. J. A. Turner of Harris county. She planted one row of wild berries in her garden last year and gathered enough berries in early season to can six gallons. She has put out two more rows.

A chicken-eating turtle, weighing over 20 pounds, was harpooned with a pitchfork by Harry Williams, Kerr county ranchman, living on Turtle creek. He saw one of his half-grown chickens in distress near the water's edge and rushed to its aid. Williams had missed chickens and ducks, but had blamed the raccoons and opossums.

Its better to keep honey in a warm room than a refrigerator.

Southwest Texas cowmen are stocking their ranches with antelope that drift from New Mexico in quest of better pasture.

Auction of saddle horses will be an added attraction at the Dallas State Fair. Frank P. Holland, in charge of the livestock department, is making arrangements for the auction.

It has been proposed that cattlemen get behind the proposal to build old Fort Griffin on the Texas Centennial ground, in 1936. It was an important cattle center from the time it was established in 1853 until it was abandoned in 1885.

Survey of the Oak Creek dam site near Sweetwater has been ordered by the State Relief Commission. It is another step toward the creation of an irrigation project that would supply about 7,500 acres in Nolan and Coke counties.

Indicated production of major crops in Texas for which estimates were made on July 1 follows. All figures are in bushels except hay and grapes, which are in tons:

COST OF STATE WARDS

During the fiscal year just ended the State spent $3,788,541 for the care of its 18,654 wards in its 19 eleemosynary institutions, or an average of $222.54 for each ward. The employees number 2,511. Of the above sum, $511,499.6 was spent for construction. Patients in Galveston State psychopathic hospital cost $1,178 each during the year, the highest per capita cost incurred at any institution. Wichita Falls State hospital treated its patients at the lowest per capita cost, $169. Each month there was an average of 1,938 inmates. The next two institutions with low per capita maintenance costs were the Terrell State hospital with $177 for each of its 2,134 patients each month, and San Antonio State hospital, $183, with a monthly average of 2,370 inmates.

The average number of patients each month and the per capita cost of their maintenance at other institutions were: Confederate Men's Home, Austin, 170, $571; Confederate Women's Home, Austin, $556; School for the Blind, Austin, 215, $434; School for Deaf, Austin, 506, $362; Colored Deaf, Dumb and Blind Institute, Austin, 215, $246; State Orphan's Home, Corsicana, 881, $202; Home for Dependent and Neglected Children, Waco, 336, $237; Girls' Training School, Gainesville, 228, $307; Juvenile (boys) Training School, Gatesville, 823, $200; Austin State School, 1,105, $207; Rusk State Hospital, 1,824, $186; Austin State Hospital, 2,088, $204; Abilene State Hospital, 1,015, $240; Tuberculosis, Carlsbad, 694, $438, and State Colored Orphan's Home, Gilmer, 94, $191.

MEXICAN TRADE STATISTICS

Imports and exports with Mexico through Laredo during May increased over 100 per cent, compared with May of last year. Leading the importations were 121 carloads of lead, while 1336 carloads of scrap iron, 120 of lard and 89 of automobiles led the exports. The imports and exports during May were the heaviest in several years. Total imports, for May, 1933, were 170 carloads, compared with 2990 for May, 1934. Exports this year were 664 in May against 323 in 1933.

PRE-HISTORIC INDIAN VILLAGE FOUND

Ruins of a pre-historic Indian village have been found by excavation on the Kings-on ranch, owned by Duncan and Joe Kingston, near Balmorea, in Toyah Valley. An archaeologist will be asked to visit the site to determine the age and racial inhabitants of the old village, which is believed to be of Aztec origin.

REVIVING TEXAS GERMAN COLONISTS HISTORY

Transcription and translation of perhaps the most important source material relative to the settlement of Texas by German colonists from 1842 to 1847 is being carried on by Dr. R. L. Biese, associate professor of history at University of Texas. The material is composed of documents, newspapers, letters, etc., relative to the activities of the Society for the Protection of German Immigrants in Texas, or, as it was more commonly known, the Association of German Princes.

Due to the efforts of this society Texas became more populated with German settlers. Prior to the organization of the society there were scattered German colonists in Fayette, Austin and Colorado counties, but their settlement was not due to any colonization movement. The society first purchased part of the Fischer & Miller grant in Southwest Texas, and then established colonies in New Braunfels, Castell and Fredericksburg, each community of which is still more or less intact, and definitely composed of Texans of German origin. Castell is still situated on the original grant of land on which the society was to make its settlement. From these early settlements there have sprung others, which exist in Texas today, including those in Comal, Gillespie, Llano, Mason, Kendall and Kerr counties.

NOTED TEXAS WOMAN DIES

Mrs. Bettie Scott Youree, 83, widow of the late Captain Peter Youree, died several weeks ago at Shreveport, La. She was a member of a family conspicuous in the Nation's annals since the American Revolution. Mrs. Youree (nee Elizabeth Rose Scott) was born at Scottsville, Tex., March 21, 1851. She was the daughter of Col. W. T. Scott, one of the early builders of East Texas, who settled in this State just 100 years ago. He was the first president of the Texas & Pacific railroad, and senator under three governments, having served in the Mexican legislature when Texas was a part of the State of Coahuila during its brief period as an independent nation, and later as United States senator from Texas. Mrs. Youree is survived by Mrs. Susie Rose Floyd of Dallas.

FARMERS WORK ON HIGHWAYS

Uvalde county farmers, whose crops were ruined by the drouth, are being given employment on highways. Three projects are included in the relief program—completion of an 11-mile gap in Highway No. 4 in the northern part of the county, the widening of shoulders and structures on Highway No. 3 from east to west through the county, and grubbing of a right-of-way and other preliminary work on Highway No. 55 south of Uvalde.

RECORD WHEAT CONSIGNMENT

A solid train of 62 cars of wheat, about 4,000 tons, passed through Slaton from McAvary & Company of Aiken to E. M. Rogers & Company of Fort Worth. It is said to have been the largest wheat shipment ever handled in Texas from one single firm to another.

SPECIAL SESSION LOOMS

Governor Miriam A. Ferguson has decided to call a special session of the legislature early in September, after the primary elections have been held. The main purpose of the session will be legislation looking to relief among the drouth-stricken areas in the State.

And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes. Rev. 7:17.

DEAR FRIENDS:

First, let me thank the boys and girls (young and old) for the interest they have maintained during the summer. It is easy to be neglectful and "take things easy" on hot days. So I appreciate those who have kept up the good work, and have help me carry on. What a dry, hot summer we have had! How hard it has been to see the fruits of labor snatched from our hands, yet how thankful we should be for so many other blessings. If we have health, let us be thankful for that is one of the greatest gifts of God. If we are ill, let's be thankful for the kind hands and loving hearts that help to assuage our sufferings. Let us be thankful for the love of those around us. Thankful for God, the birds, lovely trees, the stars at night, our liberty, and our glorious country. We can find so many things to be thankful for if we will just look about us. I am thankful for the arms of my babies around my neck, thankful that God has spared them the sod. I am that not one is resting beneath the sod. I am thankful for a Christian home, Christian friends and neighbors. I believe a good thing would be to write out a list of "thankful things." We will be surprised how many we have that are worthy of gracious thankfulness. I wish we had a national "Thank You" month. Wouldn't that be fine?

There are so many fine letters this month I must pass on to them. First, let me say "thank you" for the epistles, the new members and the interest in the club.

With love to all the friends of the Sunshine Club everywhere, I am,

(Signed) AUNT MARY.

SUNSHINE CLUB NEWS

Some time ago I received a beautiful letter from a worthy club member, Mrs. Tom Yates, Jayton, Texas. She says: "I come with a glad heart to say hello to all you good people. As I read the good letters each month it makes me happy there are those who love the Lord. If there were only more who loved Him instead of the world! Listen, dear boys and girls and all the readers of this page, let us serve the Lord as we have never served Him before. Let us feel that each day we live may be the last, just try and do our very best. You know that we do not have tomorrow promised to us. Let's not forget to pray and thank the Father for life and all the wonderful blessings we enjoy. My dad is in mighty poor health, and I wish the prayers of all you good people.  I am glad to see the new members coming into the club."

Thank you for the lovely letter, Mrs. Yates. Wish I had space to print every word of it. Bertie Thompson writes: "I am still in bed. Surely have had a hard time keeping cool. Have been in bed four years the 15th of July. I have gotten letters from three club members in one week. One member sent me a handkerchief. I am very proud of the letters and handkerchief. Thank each member for me. I surely do appreciate everything that is done for me."

We wish to welcome Miss Lois Vitato, Sayre, Okla., into the club. We are pleased to have this new member.

Norris Dean, Rockdale, Texas, is another new member we are glad to enroll.

Following are other new members to whom we extend the hand of fellowship. We all bid you welcome, and hope you will never regret your fellowship with us.

We welcome:
Edith McGivray, Mrs. A. M. Campbell, Douglas McEnery, Lucille Dover, Bertha Mae Self, Ethel Dejean, Elouise Dover, Janet Bruno, Gladia Owens, Juanita Reed, Velma Brown and Eva Barron, all of Alto, Texas.
George Owen Johnson, Richard Johnson, Lola Ellis, Louise Ellis, Lena Ellis, Walter Ellis and Vera Beasley, all of Shawnee, Okla.
Helen Whitall, Ida Bell Bentley and Margie Bentley, all of Tecumseh, Okla.
Miss Ruth Gorman, East Springfield, Ohio.
Miss Isabella Aatwood and Mrs. Maggie Aatwood of Tyler, Texas.
Oscar Ritter, Ardmore, Okla.
Marjorie and Frank Wood, Nixon, Texas.
Lillian Wiede, Maxwell, Texas.
Ruby Gilbert, Claremont, Texas.
Mrs. Lanier Smith, Dallas, Texas.

Doesn't the above list of names make you happy? Isn't it fine to see our club grow? We give God the praise and the glory. We are proud of our membership, and hope each month will see a gain such as the above. Keep up the good work. I want to thank all for their fine work and the co-operation. The following letter pictures a happy home. A singing family is a happy family. Maria

Artus, Poth, Texas, says: "I read about the death of our beloved Shut-In, Aunt Emma, and my heart was sad. She was such a sweet, Christian lady, and I know we shall all miss her sweet letters. I have four brothers and two sisters, all younger than myself. My dad is a minister of the Evangelical Church, and we drive ten miles every Sunday to church. We enjoy this greatly. We all sing on the way to church and back home. Sometimes we come home late at night, then some of the children sleep instead of sing.  Last month I framed my membership card and hung it up in my room, and it does look fine. I hope your dear mother is well again. Thank you, Maria, for the lovely letter. I can picture your wonderful family life. We, too, love to sing. Singing and happiness go hand in hand. Keep up that family spirit."

Mrs. Lanier Smith, Dallas, Texas, says: "I have been a Shut-In two years, and am in a wheel chair, the gift of friends. I want to join the club so I too, can send sunshine to others less fortunate, maybe, and thereby help to pass the time. My lower limbs are useless, my knees are stiff and cannot be made straight. I try to be cheerful and happy for I know God will take care of me."

What a beautiful spirit in this letter. Would that more of us could be like Mrs. Smith. Such unselfishness and love for others.

Ruby Gilbert, Claremont, Texas, writes: "I have thought so often of joining the Sunshine Club, but kept putting it off.  I am live on a farm, and as most farm little time to spare. However, I feel I can have the time it will take to do my duties as a member of the club. I know what it means to be lonely.  I find pen friends are a great help in passing the time. Will be glad to get my membership card, and hope I can be of help, at least a wee bit."

We welcome you, dear lady. You are certainly among your own kind, the plain working women of our nation who are trying to live for others and not self. We welcome you. Mrs. Emma Lakey, Tyler, Texas, is a member who is getting a great deal out of the club because she is putting so much into it. Mrs. Lakey says she is ready and willing at any time to send sunshine or do anything she can for the club. What a beautiful spirit for anyone to have. She sends in new members, and says she is always willing to work for others any time. She makes some suggestions for improvement in the club which hope I can carry out. Thank you for the letter, Mrs. Lakey.

Miss Mildred Rothermel, Bay Minette, Ala., (the daughter of our beloved Aunt Emma), in submitting her membership in the club, says: "I've been wanting to write to you for some time and thank you for your very kind letter, and also to send in my membership coupon.  I want to carry on as much of mother's work as possible. I surely ought to be able to manage one or two letters a month. I should like to write Aunt Susan, but do not have her address. (Write Mildred, Aunt Susan). I surely appreciated your sweet letter, your sympathy and all the kind things you said. I wish you could have known my mother. You would have loved her even more. She was a wonderful mother. May her examples live on. I certainly hope your mother is better."

We are so happy to have Mildred take up the work of her mother; and I am sure, from what I know, that she is worthy to have the mantle of her mother fall upon her shoulders.

To the kind ones who have expressed sympathy and concern about my own dear mother, I am glad to say that she is slowly improving. She is in Fort Worth with my sister and myself. We are happy for her company, and hope and pray for her speedy recovery. Thank you kind friends, for the many cheerful letters and cards that you have sent to my mother and myself. Thank you, many times.

June Wiseman, Loyal, Okla., says: "Summer will keep everyone busy, as it always does, but I hope that each one of us will not be so busy that we cannot send some sunshine to others.  We have dark shadows in our life, but the darkness drifts away, leaving only sunshine, which brightens everything up after awhile."

Thank you, June. Come again often. We miss you when we don't hear from you.

Aunt Martha Borchering, Highmore, So. D., tells about the drouth in her State, and wonders if we are likewise stricken. Yes, indeed we are, Aunt Martha. We can sympathize with you. She would like to hear from Harriet Elghm (where are you, Harriet, dear? We would all like to hear from you). "Love and greetings to all the Sunshine members, (Continued top of column) and especially Aunt Mary's dear mother," Aunt Martha writes. "Hello Aunt Agnes, Aunt Susan and Lillian Vedd, my dear pen pal."

We are pleased to have your letter, and hope you are feeling better. We will remember you always, and pray for your well being.

NEW IRRIGATION DISTRICT POSSIBLE

The Texas Relief Commission is to be asked to place before Federal authorities at Washington, D. C., the development of the Dallam county shallow water irrigation project 30 miles northwest of Dalhart. Lawrence Westbrook, assistant Federal relief administrator, in a letter to A. W. James, a Dallam county rancher who has been urging the development of the project, said in part it "is entirely in line with our program and we should be glad to give it consideration if it is submitted in the proper form by the Texas Relief Commission."

It is proposed to cut the 100,000 acres into farms of 20 to 40 acres with a well and a family on each plot.

PECAN MEN TO EXHIBIT

A feature of the Texas Centennial will be an exhibit of nuts by the pecan growers of the State. At the recent Pecan Growers Association at Stephenville it was voted that a committee of 10 make arrangements for the display, which will be the most comprehensive ever made. The 1935 meeting of Pecan Growers Association will be held at Uvalde, as a compliment to Vice President Garner, who is a pecan enthusiast. Officers elected by the association follow: Fred Bryson, College Station, president; W. J. Millican, Bend, vice president; W. S. Price, Gustine, secretary-treasurer; Guy Risen, San Saba; Joe Zajicek, Holland, and J. A. Simpson, Uvalde, two-year term directors.

NOVEL HITCH-HIKING EXPERIENCES

Not long ago Arthur Ashmore, a Denison salesman, gave a lift to an aged hitch-hiker he found trudging the dusty roads of Eastern Arkansas. When Mr. Ashmore parted with his hitch-hiker guest the man handed him a $10,000 check on a Louisville, Ky., bank, which proved to be good. A few days after this incident, H. W. Davidson, supervisor of agents for the M.-K.-T., picked up a hitch-hiker near Denison, who thrust a revolver into Mr. Davidson's ribs and forced him to take him to Ardmore, Okla., where he leaped from the machine and disappeared.

To avoid Wrinkles treat your UNDER SKIN

Lovely MRS. HENRY FIELD, of Chicago, uses Pond's Cold Cream for her Under Skin, Pond's Vanishing Cream for her Outer Skin.

When Dryness bothers treat your OUTER SKIN

YOU actually have two skins—an Under and an Outer Skin. When the glands in your Under Skin fail to pour out beauty oils this skin shrinks. Your Outer Skin folds into creases. Lines, wrinkles appear.

An Oil Cream for your Under Skin. To prevent this you must use an oil cream that penetrates deep where the tiny glands are failing. Pond's Cold Cream does this—brings the Under Skin just the cream it craves. And because this cream sinks so deep it is a most efficient cleanser. Every particle of dirt is floated out of your pores.

A Greaseless Cream for your Outer Skin. This skin must have entirely different care. Its tiny cells are robbed of their natural moisture by exposure. To check this loss try Pond's Vanishing Cream. This delicious greaseless cream contains a special substance which actually restores lost moisture. A single application of it removes roughness, dryness, chapping. Used as a powder base it leaves the skin fine-textured, beautifully smooth. Holds your make-up for hours.

Try this Simple TWO-SKIN Treatment Daily

1. Every night cleanse and firm your Under Skin with Pond's Cold Cream. Wipe off. Repeat, patting vigorously.
2. Smooth your Outer Skin with Pond's Vanishing Cream. Leave it on all night.
3. Every morning, and during the day, another Cold Cream cleansing. Follow with Pond's Vanishing Cream. Then make-up.

Begin today—see how magically Pond's Two-Skin Treatment will smooth away lines—keep your skin clear and lovely.

Smart Suggestions for Making Up Linen or Flannel or Any Cotton Stuff

Patterns 1846 and 1827. How about a linen ensemble? Do you own that smart thing? If not, look carefully at the sketch at the left and picture it in flower pink or pale blue or a soft, warm yellow. Isn't that a happy suggestion? Or maybe you are the sort of person who just concentrates on white in the summer, and lets it go at that. Well, you will always look smart but never smarter than if the white takes a form of this combination of dress and jacket. Have the frock without sleeves... but the sleeves of the jacket are one of the cleverest things about it. Have you noticed how they are slashed at the top?

The dress at the right may have a cape. See it in the small sketch below. It ties around the neck with a little scarf and is a useful thing to have when a warm day blows up a bit cool in the evening. A wool-like cotton would be nice for this or if you wear crepe silk in summer you couldn't choose a better way to make it up. Think how softly the sleeves would ripple over the shoulders.

Pattern 1846 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20. Size 16 takes 4 1/2 yards 39-inch fabric and 3/4 yard ribbon.

Pattern 1827 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 takes 5 yards 39-inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with each pattern.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred), for each Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

PLANNING ROOMS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

One more month of vacation—how swiftly passes the summer. But somehow July seemed to drag along and mother and father were on edge. Bob and Betty were restless and wished for something to "do." Fortunately the family that can save its "vacation" for the end month; but so many of us cannot do that, so we must find some other means to make it one of the high points in the summer vacation period. Here is a suggestion how you might make the vacation end profitable and pleasant.

Most boys and girls want a room of their own when they reach the age of from ten to twelve years. When possible such a room should be provided. Often by re-arranging the house such a room can be available. Most men object to even the slightest change in house arrangements; but when the housewife is able to "board the lions" den and go ahead with her plans she usually will hear the saying: "We made such changes."

I would rather combine kitchen and dining room in one room and give the adolescent youngsters a room of their own than dine in splendor. There is something about "my" room that makes boys and girls finer men and women; that acts as an anchorage to "home." When they can feel that part of the home belongs solely to them, they take more interest in helping to fix and keep a household in order. It acts as a magnet to draw them from the highways and byways of life.

A friend of mine had an extra large south room that was shared jointly by son and daughter. When son and daughter came of age and wanted things of their own the mother invested ten dollars—that she now feels has returned large dividends.

First, she hired a carpenter for two dollars to build a partition in the center of the south room—it didn't extend to the ceiling but it was well above the average head height; this made far more air circulation. The partition, arranged so that each side had a separate entrance, was made of beaver board and cost approximately six dollars for material. The mother then spent two dollars for painting the walls and partition a neutral brown. The wood work was done in ivory which provided for any color scheme in decoration.

The essential parts of the bedroom were furnished by mother, such as bed, chairs and one lamp. Now, for the rest of the furnishings the young folks provided them from time to time. Bob and Betty made a bed Betty was to do the carpenter work and a dam necessary sewing. Beavers working on a dam never worked harder than did Bob and Betty in preparing each a room to their own liking. In order to provide little things for their money, I have never saw youngsters save money more cheerfully, or find more ways to make money than did these two. They sought every conceivable odd job to earn money. Such bargaining with clerks, such shopping to make dimes go farthest, such cutting, sewing, sawing, hammering, I have never seen before. Each youngster was permitted to fix each room any way desired, regardless of how the "oldsters" felt about it, with one exception.

Later my friend told me, confidentially that her two youngsters learned more about home-making in their rooms than they would have learned a year in college. Not that she discredited colleges, as she is hoping to send each of them through a full course, but like the wise modern mother she knows we must first have "horse sense" before having "polish."

Now young Bob wanted several things very much—first a good bed—one that would be comfortable and stand lots of hard wear. "Don't give me a fussy bed," he pleaded. "Just one that is solid comfort, where I can pop down any time I come to my room. Then I want a big closet, not that I have a lot of clothes, but I have so many treasures I wouldn't part with for the world, and a closet is so handy to store things in." Bob worked faithfully at re-vamping and repairing an old kitchen table, making it look brand new. Later he used a large blotter and table lamp to make the table look like a flat-top desk. At a second hand store he picked up two folding canvas chairs for fifty cents. He tacked on new attractive canvas, repainting it to match the table. That table is now Bob's pride and joy. "Just the thing," he exclaimed when inspecting a chest of drawers at an auction sale, which he bought for $1.25, repainting them, and they are lovely and handy for a boy. Bob also bought a large mirror cheaply at the same auction, which he enjoys, as boys like to "look nice" as well as girls.

He is still looking for book case sections at bargain prices, since he is a book worm and is justly proud of his own fine "library." Bob wants a radio all his own (this seemed foolish to the family) but all are saving to buy him one for a Christmas present from the family. There are lots of other things Bob wants. He loves good pictures, and there was a time when his taste ran to rather trashy ideas in pictures but a firm "no" from dad dispelled that idea. Now, above all, Bob wants his personal things to be "private," so mother and dad never "snoop around" his room.

What Betty wanted to put in her bedroom we will tell you in next month's issue of the Woman's Page. Betty is different from Bob in more ways than one. Watch this page for her ideas, make each precious moment of vacation count. If possible, start your boys and girls on the voyage of life in the right direction in their own homes.

HEALTHFUL DESSERTS

Rich, heavy desserts should not be served at all and certainly not oftener than once a month in summer. Here are two recipes that are good and yet wholesome:

Cocoonut Custard

- 2 cups milk
- 1/2 cup shredded cocoonut
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- A few grains salt.

Steep the cocoonut in the milk in a double boiler twenty minutes. Strain out the cocoonut, pressing it well to extract all the flavor and sweetness. Beat the eggs and beat into them the sugar and salt. Turn the hot milk into them, and mix thoroughly. Pour the mixture into custard cups. Bake in a pan of water till set. Care should be taken to remove the custard from the oven as soon as it is set, because overbaking causes the custard to curdle, thus becoming an unpalatable mixture of whey and hard curds. Just Right

Those who know their iced tea want a full-bodied flavor that melting ice won't destroy—and a tea that requires no over-brewing to get it. That means a fine quality tea to begin with. Next time, try when a custard is done, place finger on surface of custard and pull sideways so as to break the surface slightly. If the custard is liquid under the surface, it is not done. If it breaks like a perpendicular cut or slit, the custard is done and ready to serve.

- Apple Pudding
2 large apples, pared, quartered, cored and chopped
1/4 cup sugar
2 eggs
1/4 cup milk
1/4 cup flour
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
Place the sugar, milk, yolks of eggs, flour and vanilla in a bowl. Beat until light. Fold in the apples, then the melted butter, then the stiffly beaten whites. Put into six oiled cups. Bake in a pan of water one-half hour. Remove from the cups and serve with Vanilla Custard Sauce.

Vanilla Custard Sauce

- 1 cup milk
 - 2 tablespoons sugar
 - 1 egg yolk
 - 2 tablespoons cornstarch
 - 1/4 teaspoon vanilla
 - A few grains salt.
- Save out one tablespoon milk. Heat the remainder of the milk in a double boiler. Mix together the sugar and cornstarch and stir into it the tablespoon of milk and the egg yolk. Stir this mixture into the hot milk and cook till it coats a spoon dipped into it. Add the vanilla.

UNIQUE BED COVERLET

Miss Mary Keith of Matador has a unique bed coverlet, 45 years old, made of silk handkerchiefs with a brocade-like finish. The handkerchiefs were presented to her mother, Mrs. D. E. Keith, Christmas Day, 1889, by all the cowboys of the old Matador Ranch. On each handkerchief was embroidered the initial of the giver. Following the death of her mother, Miss Keith made the handkerchiefs into a bed-coverlet.

PESTS THAT DEVOUR EACH OTHER

The lower Rio Grande Valley is ridding itself of certain pests through the simple process of setting one pest against another. Use of the Australian ladybird, or Vandalia beetle, was so successful in fighting cotton cushion scale that the valley now contemplates the use of another bug for combatting citrus aphids, which have been exceedingly numerous this season. These beetles sell for $150 per million, and will be secured in California.

THE SAME OLD PEN

The Stephenville postoffice moved into a new location. New mail boxes and new furniture were installed, new paper and letter slots provided. The postmaster wore a new smile, probably because he was proud of the new postoffice building and its new glass front. Everything about the postoffice seemed new, including the desk in the lobby, until a patron picked up the pen on the lobby desk. It was the same old corroded pen.

ENGINEER DIES AT THE THROTTLE

Webb Williamson, 46, of Palestine, died as he had lived—with his hand upon the throttle of a locomotive. He was piloting an L.G.N. freight train across Trinity river, near Riverside recently, when he succumbed to a heart attack. As the train lost momentum after crossing Trinity river bridge, the fireman and head brakeman investigated and found Mr. Williamson sitting erect in his cab, dead, his head bowed but his hand upon the throttle.

NEW RICE IRRIGATION PROJECT

About 40,000 acres of Orange county land, including new land, is expected to be brought into cultivation from an extensive drainage and irrigation project that will be financed through PWA loan. The total allotment for the two projects is $867,000. Hundreds of Orange county men will be available for the work as soon as right-of-way has been secured for the canal. The project includes a pumping plant of four pumps, each with capacity of 50,000 gallons of water per minute; a main canal with minimum width of 60 feet, and the connecting of every canal system in the county. Pump capacity will supply water to 18,000 acres of rice annually.

DROUTH IS HURTING DEER

Advices from the Hill country are that hunters will not find game as plentiful this season as last season. The dry spell last year and the one this year in that section caused a small fawn crop, and materially reduced the number of eligible bucks. Deer, during the present dry spell, are being hurt more than other game, according to Will Tucker, secretary of the State Game, Fish and Oyster Commission. Other game also will be equally affected.

MORE MONEY FROM TOMATOES

The "residue" from the Rio Grande Valley tomato crop this year will add to the income of the growers. The by-products consist of ripe tomatoes that are canned or turned into catsup, tomato paste and other forms of processed tomatoes at eight packing plants scattered throughout the valley. The plants were operated 16 hours a day and employed about 1,000 persons.

And they overcame him by the blood of the Lamb, and by the word of their testimony. Rev. 12:11.

MAINTAINS CONSTANT WATER LEVEL COOLS MILK TO 50° IN 60 MINUTES WORKS LIKE MAGIC

NO ICE NECESSARY

Here's the greatest invention you ever heard of for cooling milk. The big feature is this. The water level is always the same—up around the necks of the cans above the milk line—whether you put in only one can or fill the cooler full.

The mechanically refrigerated water circulates constantly so the necks of the cans are as cold as the bottoms. It draws the heat out of every drop of milk—from body heat down to 50° in about an hour.

You ought to get the facts about this amazing new cooler and learn how it will quickly pay for itself out of the money it saves. Everything is explained in a book that's just off the press. Call at our store, or write us and we'll send you a copy free.

WRESTLERS MUST BE MORE GENTLE

Beginning this month (August) wrestlers in Texas who indulge in attempts to gouge eyes during wrestling matches must forego that "rough stuff," according to Charles Poe, land commissioner and boxing and wrestling administrator. He says he is planning to put a stop to the rough tactics of boxers and wrestling habits wherever they exist. Mr. Poe will send instructors to referees in all parts of the State during the next 30 days to teach referees how to stop roughness in both boxing and wrestling with a view of cutting down personal injuries of fighters. Mr. Poe plans to set up a regulation that forfeits or reduces purses of fighters who gouge eyes, toss opponents over ropes or participate in none too gentle tactics.

GIRL RISKS LIFE TO SHIELD BROTHER

Betty Jim Herring, 6 years old, of Beaumont, proved herself a heroine when she risked her life to shield her 3-year-old brother from a dog that later was found to have had rabies. The two were playing in the home yard when the dog ran inside and tried to attack the boy. Betty Jim fought off the dog with her right arm, which the dog bit 12 times before it could be killed.

FAMILY OF 11 IN ONE YEAR

Nick Mersfelder, barber and justice of the peace at Fort Davis for 53 years, has an Angora goat who was the ancestor of 11 offspring in less than a year. In March, 1933, she gave birth to four nannies, an unusual number. In February of this year the Angora had two more kids. Three of the nannies born last year gave birth to a kid each, in February, and one gave birth to twins. That's 11, and they are all living.

AGED TWINS RE-UNITED

Herman Vierus, 81, of Brenham, met his twin brother Martin, at the Chicago Fair recently after a separation of 53 years. It was the first time the two brothers had met since Martin Vierus left the Fatherland at the age of 28.

FAMILY POPULATION INCREASED RAPIDLY

Recently a farmer living near Kerrville was presented with a son by his wife. Soon thereafter the family cat had a litter of kittens, the family dog delivered an assortment of puppies, and the family cow had a calf.

In our modern system of diet there is nothing so much "cussed" or "discussed" as dessert. Like bean porridge—some like it hot; some like it cold; some like it not so cold. But anyway you take it, figure food value and digestibility.

It would be foolish to serve mince meat pie with a dinner of meats and rich gravies, as the stomach would rebel, and the "next morning" effect would be a dark brown taste. Dessert should properly be used just to "top-off" a meal. But where a more generous dessert is desired, other food should be taken more lightly.

The best and most healthful desserts are simple fruits and nuts. Fruits with cream and sugar are very wholesome and delicious. Grinding such foods as raisins, dates, figs, with any kind of nuts in a food chopper, then shaping into caramels, is something delicious and dainty. Some folks like to add cocoonut, some like honey. By experiment and study a large variety of candy desserts may be made.
